12 Die As Ship Falls

Lone Survivor Hurt Seriously

CHICAGO, March 11 — Twelve persons perished and one survived the crash and fiery explosion of a Miami-bound Delta Airlines DC-4 plane shortly after it took off late last night from the Chicago Municipal Airport.

Delta Airlines officials said the plane carried four crew members and nine passengers.

The crash occurred shortly after the huge, four-motor plane took off in a wintry, snow-swept night.

Delta Airlines officials issued a statement saying the plane burst into flames upon impact.

• • •

THE LONE survivor of the tragedy, Mrs. Tripolino Meo, 33, of Chicago, battled for her life. She suffered severe burns, a skull fracture, and fractures of both legs and arms. Only her faith, she told physicians, brought her out alive. Rescue workers heard her hysterical prayers, and pushed away red-hot fuselage to save her.

Her 9-year-old son, Albert H., perished in the flames.

A dramatic account of Mrs. Meo's rescue was told by Dave Lunebach, 19, of Chicago. The American Airlines cargo-passenger clerk said:

"I rushed over to the burning plane. Two other fellows joined me. In almost a sudden quiet, we could hear someone talking. I stopped and we tore away part of the fuselage, and there was this woman.

"She was praying—saying 'Oh, my God forgive me, help my boy, help me, God.'

"I pulled her clear, and the other two fellows helped carry her away. Her leg was twisted, her clothes were torn."

Among the victims was Harold L. Levy, 47, prominent criminal attorney from Chicago. Levy was known for his stirring defense of many persons charged with murder. As assistant state's attorney, he helped send 21 killers to death on the gallows or in the electric chair.

Dr. Gilbert E. Garvin of Blanchester Ohio, another victim of the crash, was returning home from a medical convention.

Dr. Garvin, a specialist in allergies, was one of Clinton County's most popular physicians. He was graduated from the Cincinnati medical college in 1935. He was 42.

DIXIE MAY TAKE WALK

High Democrats Pondering Future Of Their Party

WASHINGTON, March 11—The Democratic executive committee begins a secret two-day conference in Washington today, rocked by the Southern rebellion and the third-party presidential candidacy of Henry A. Wallace.

President Truman will bring the strategy discussions to a climax Friday with a White House luncheon for members of the committee, the cabinet and Democratic congressional leaders.

The Democratic meetings start only 48 hours before the governors of rebellious Southern states arrive in Washington for a war council, amid reports that Dixie delegates will "take a walk" if Mr. Truman is nominated at the Philadelphia convention.

Southern leaders were discussing the possibilities of supporting the presidential candidacy of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

• • •

THEY SAID it made little difference whether Japan's conquerer were the GOP nominee, or whether the South lined up for him independently in defiance of Mr. Truman.

Sen. O'Daniel (D) Tex., already is out in the open for MacArthur. Sen. McClellan (D) Ark., gave a conditioned endorsement, adding that the Allied commander in Japan "may be the answer to the nation's prayer in time of crisis."

Sen. Hill (D) Ala., former Democratic Senate "whip," and Sen. Pepper (D) Fla., an administration stalwart, were urging, however, that Southern Democrats support the national party in self-interest.

Hill, pointed out that although Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, Tennessee and Texas left the party and voted for Herbert Hoover in 1928, not a single Southerner sat in the Hoover cabinet.

Pepper conceded that the "revolt is a very serious threat to the Democratic party." He said he would support the regular Democratic nominee, whether he be Mr. Truman or someone else, and predicted that the President would win the nomination.

County's Bad Check Case Is Continued Story

A 22-year-old Five Points man, who was released Wednesday by city police when a local business firm failed to press charges for alleged forgery, is wanted by the sheriff's office Thursday for passing bogus checks in the Five Points area.

J. M. Brigner of Five Points, victim of a $15 bad check, said Thursday he would sign a warrant for the arrest of Junior Taylor, Route 56, near Five Points.

Two other checks for $10 each were reported by Carl Hildenbrand and Morgan's grocery store.

Taylor was picked up by city police Wednesday and held pending investigation into a $56 bogus certificate he attempted to pass in a local establishment, but the proprietor failed to prosecute.

• • •

A SHORT TIME after his release by city police, bad checks began turning up in Five Points and Mt. Sterling, signed by one "Junior Taylor," Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff reported.

Communications with Mt. Sterling police revealed they wanted both Taylor and his brother, Charles, who is suspected of passing a worthless check for over $200, the sheriff said.

Sheriff's files reveal Junior Taylor has a previous record for passing bogus certificates. He was committed in 1936 to the Mansfield reformatory.

U.S. Films OKd

LONDON, March 11—Harold Wilson, president of the British board of trade, announced today a new Anglo-American film agreement under which the present 75 percent duty on imported films will be withdrawn. Wilson told the House of Commons that importation of American films will be resumed about June 14.

200 Students Set For Annual Music Festival

Nearly 200 Pickaway County students are to display their musical abilities March 18 at the Jackson Township high school, when they present their annual music festival.

A 40-piece orchestra will open the program with three instrumental selections, followed by the vocal portion of the festival, in which more than 150 voices will blend in a Lenten cantata.

The vocal portion will consist of 17 selections, about half of which are to be solos.

The orchestra will be under the direction of Fred Brobst, Ashville high school instrumental instructor, who plays the flute with the Columbus Philharmonic orchestra. Mrs. Elizabeth Penny, music instructor for the Monroe Township school, is to lead the choral group.

One meeting of the orchestra and chorus has already been held for organizational purposes, and the group will meet once more on March 17 to give the program a final rehearsal. The music festival is to start at 8:15 p. m.

COLUMBUS, March 11—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., announced at noon today the immediate curtailment of fuel gas to 178 industries served in its territory.

Bob Bowsher Trophy On Display; Pickleseimer To Get It March 19

The Bob Bowsher Memorial Trophy, awarded to the most outstanding athlete among Pickaway County's 11 high schools, is now on display in downtown Circleville at Butch's Jewelery Store.

Donated by The Circleville Herald in memory of Bob Bowsher, Circleville high school athlete who was killed in action in World War II, the trophy will remain on display until March 19 when it will be taken to Williamsport's Deercreek high school.

There it will be presented to James Pickleseimer who was voted by the county's 11 high school coaches as the most outstanding player of the year.

Young Pickleseimer, a senior at Deercreek high school, will receive the trophy at an honor dinner to be sponsored by his school's Parent-Teacher Society.

Presentation will follow a dinner at which varsity letters and other awards will be given members of Deercreek's 1947-48 basketball team.

Fierce Blast Kills 10

U.S. Car Used By Dynamiters

JERUSALEM, March 11—A fierce explosion wrecked one wing of the Jewish Agency's headquarters in Jerusalem today, killing at least 10 persons and injuring 89.

Leib Vaffe, 72-year-old managing director of the Palestine foundation was killed in the blast which immediately set portions of the building aflame. Vaffe was a well-known figure among American Jewry.

A Palestine government announcement said that a car laden with explosives was driven up to the building and that two boxes were left in a hallway by the car occupants. The explosion followed a few minutes later.

Although the blast was attributed to Arabs, anti-British feeling mounted among Jews immediately after the explosion.

• • •

BRITISH troops and police rushed to the scene to aid victims but remained outside a road block set up by Jews.

Reuters said that police in armored cars took up positions 50 yards from the entrance to the agency building and kept their guns trained in the direction of the Jews.

Jewish guards linked arms and cordoned off the area around the shattered agency building. They were supported by units of Haganah, Jewish Agency defense arm, carrying rifles.

Many persons were thrown from the building by the explosion while others staggered out from the wreckage bleeding profusely.

The car with the explosives was a vehicle stolen from the American consulate and flying the United States flag.

Unsuspecting British troops permitted the car to proceed through the security zone in which the agency headquarters is located believing it was an official consulate auto.

Instead of continuing down the road to a barrier manned by Jewish civil guards, the car turned into the driveway to the guards at the gateway unsuspectingly lifted the iron pole barrier and permitted the car to enter.

Sirup Experts Dislike Snows

CHARDON, March 11 — Today's raging snow storm did little to erase the frowns on the faces of Geauga County maple sirup producers.

Sap that should be flowing in volume from the tapped trees is coming out at a mere trickle. Unless the weather takes a quick turn, this year's run will be one of the smallest in history.

"What's needed," A. B. Carlson, Chardon's hardware merchant and founder of the famous Geauga County Maple Sirup Festival, said, "is some wet, warm rains, cloudy foggy days and freezing night. That might sound like a prescription for a first-grade flu epidemic, but it is ideal weather for maple sirup."

No Defense

WASHINGTON, March 11—The defense rested today in Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers' perjury trial without calling the ex-Air Force purchasing officer or any witness in his behalf.

These are nuclear particles heretofore found only in cosmic rays and thought to be the force which holds atomic nuclei together. Move To Slash ERP Fund Said Doomed In Senate

WASHINGTON, March 11—Spokesmen on both sides of the Marshall Plan fight estimated today that the effort to cut $1.3 billion from the European Recovery Bill will fail by from 15 to 20 votes.

Sen. Ball (R) Minn., announced that he would offer an amendment today to reduce the $5.3 billion first-year authorization to an even $4 billion.

Although the cut has the announced support of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, GOP policy chief, best estimates indicated that it will get from 28 to 34 votes. Forty-nine senators constitute a majority of the full Senate.

Hope increased that the Senate might pass the ERP bill by Saturday night after three non-controversial amendments were adopted and a fourth—the Wallace-Taylor substitute for the Marshall Plan—was rejected overwhelmingly.

• • •

BALL FACED even a grimmer prospect on his amendment to set up a veto-proof Supreme Council of Nations to combat the spread of Communism with force, if necessary. But he warned the ERP cannot hope to succeed until the United States faces the "problem of security against aggression."

The Senate's 74-to-3 rejection of the substitute sponsored by Sen. Taylor (D) Ida. was a turndown of the foreign aid proposals advanced by Henry A. Wallace, third-party candidate for the presidency.

Taylor, an announced candidate for second place on the Wallace ticket, affirmed the nature of the test by referring to his substitute as a "Wallace-Taylor" program.

It would have provided for a $5 billion U. S. contribution to the United Nations for European aid, coupled with steps for world disarmament.

Only two senators, Langer (R) N. D., and Pepper (D) Fla., joined the former "singing cowboy" in voting for the amendment.

'Irish' Debate Goes To Court

CLEVELAND, March 11—"The Smiling Irishman" of Cleveland's used-car row has his Irish dander up and his shillelagh ready today.

John J. Kennedy, "The Irishman," filed a petition in Cuyahoga County common pleas court yesterday asking an injunction against Sol Comp, who plans to set up business a few blocks away and to advertise the lot as "Irishman's Corners."

Kennedy asserted that "The Smiling Irishman" is a trade name which has built his business up to nearly $400,000 yearly and that another "Irishman" in the neighborhood would confuse buyers and sellers.

Comp argued that "The Smiling Irishman hasn't got a corner on all the Irishmen. I'll fight him to the supreme court. Lawsuit or no, we're planning to open on St. Patrick's Day."

Thugs Get $600

CINCINNATI, March 11—Two armed bandits held up a Cincinnati loan office this morning and escaped with between $600 and $700 in cash.

Clinic Fire Kills Nine

Carolina Mental Hospital Leveled

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 11—The bodies of nine women patients were recovered today after fire swept the mental ward of the Highland hospital here.

Thirty women patients were in the ward when the fire broke out about last midnight. All except the nine who perished were reported to have been safely removed.

Fire Chief J. T. Fitzgerald reported the flames spread so rapidly that there was no opportunity to rescue those who died in the blaze.

All of the nine victims were psychiatric patients. Two were identified by Coroner T. R. Terry as Mrs. Allen Hipps, widow of a physician, and Mrs. Bruce Kennedy, 30.

• • •

CHIEF FITZGERALD said the patients in the fire-swept ward had been locked in for the night some time before the fire was discovered.

Fitzgerald said attendants at the hospital apparently tried to release all of the patients from their locked rooms before calling firemen. He reported the fire had a big head start.

Patients who had escaped safely aided firemen in their rescue efforts, informing them where ladders could best be raised and where other patients were trapped.

Firemen were forced to chop and batter their way through heavy mesh wire covering windows both inside and out.

The building was of four stories frame construction and was entirely destroyed,

Fitzgerald said the fire started in the kitchen on the basement floor level and swept to upper floors through an elevator shaft or dumb waiter. The cause was not determined.

Chief Fitzgerald said the hospital had complied with fire safety regulations. Each floor level had porch balconies with staircases to the ground.

$5,000 Taken In For Red Cross

Approximately $5,000 had been taken during Circleville's annual American Red Cross drive Thursday, but the total is $4,000 short of the goal.

However, William Weldon, chairman of the committee, said the solicitations had not yet been completed and that all money had not been reported.

The money derived from the current drive is to be used partially to establish a blood bank.

The bank will be set up to replenish the dwindling supplies in American hospitals, and the blood will be given free to those in need.

Also of importance is the "disaster fund" which was found helpful in Circleville during the flood last Summer, and on a national scale in the disasters such as in Texas City, major floods, tornadoes and fires.

Indicted Again

BALTIMORE, March 11—A federal grand jury here today indicted Murray and Henry Garsson on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in renegotiation of wartime contracts. They were convicted last year on bribery charges.

Masaryk Death Said Deep Shock

Ailing President Near Collapse

PRAGUE, March 11—Reports circulated in diplomatic circles in Prague today that President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia is seriously considering his resignation as a result of the death of Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk.

The Communist-run government at the same time urged the populace to remain calm in an obvious effort to avert any uprising in the wake of the tragic death of Masaryk which was called suicide.

Vladimir Clementis, Communist deputy foreign minister, took over the post of Masaryk temporarily today and blamed Czech "traitors" for the latter's suicide.

Reports concerning President Benes were attributed to his friends who say that the news of Masaryk's death shocked and staggered the ailing president to a point where he almost collapsed.

• • •

PRIVATE Chancellor Smutny has been with the president in the village of Sezimovo Usti since yesterday morning after Benes learned of the passing of Masaryk.

Benes, according to friends had been clinging to the hope that if he remained in office he might be able to exert a restraining influence on the Communist government, especially as far as purges are concerned.

Chancellor Smutny's office in Prague said that Benes had not resigned "up to this morning."

This statement seemed indicative of important events in the president's country residence. Also the possibility that he is being cut off from contact with the outside world.

For the first time since he went to Sezimovo Usti telephone calls to him there are being refused.

America Moves To Kill Veto In UN Council

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 11 —The United States moved today to eliminate the veto in the United Nations Security Council except in matters where sanctions and military action are involved.

Discussions on the American proposal are scheduled to start Monday when the "little assembly" begins consideration of the veto problem.

Observers held little hope for progress because the United Nations body is boycotted by Russia and her satellites.

In a suggestion submitted to the "little assembly," the United States proposed that the right to veto be abolished in all instances where only moral weight is exerted.

All decisions of the Security Council that would require action by the five permanent members (the United States, the United Kingdom, Soviet Russia, France

Couldn't Wait; But He Will

LONDON, March 11—The old parable of the dog who dropped his bone to grab at a non-existent bone reflection in the water was re-enacted today at the London prison farm.

Peter Kenziak, 41-year-old Cleveland convict who already had been granted a parole effective May 13, just couldn't wait. He walked away from the Lebanon honor camp of the London prison farm.

When he is recaptured—if he is—his parole will be revoked automatically and two years added to his sentence.

High Brass Hit In House Talk

WASHINGTON, March 11—The vice-chairman of the congressional aviation policy board charged today that "brass hats" are "frittering away" the nation's defense to a shocking extent that will "amaze and horrify" the country.

Rep. Hinshaw (R) Calif., in one of the most strongly-worded peacetime speeches ever made in Congress, bitterly denounced top military men for fighting among themselves while the world is threatened by war.

He attributed what he called a "shocking, deplorable situation" to continued rivalries among the armed services.

BALL FACED even a grimmer prospect on his amendment to set up a veto-proof Supreme Council of Nations to combat the spread of Communism with force, if necessary. But he warned the ERP cannot hope to succeed until the United States faces the "problem of security against aggression."

The Senate's 74-to-3 rejection of the substitute sponsored by Sen. Taylor (D) Ida. was a turndown of the foreign aid proposals advanced by Henry A. Wallace, third-party candidate for the presidency.

Taylor, an announced candidate for second place on the Wallace ticket, affirmed the nature of the test by referring to his substitute as a "Wallace-Taylor" program.

It would have provided for a $5 billion U. S. contribution to the United Nations for European aid, coupled with steps for world disarmament.

Only two senators, Langer (R) N. D., and Pepper (D) Fla., joined the former "singing cowboy" in voting for the amendment.

'Irish' Debate Goes To Court

CLEVELAND, March 11—"The Smiling Irishman" of Cleveland's used-car row has his Irish dander up and his shillelagh ready today.

John J. Kennedy, "The Irishman," filed a petition in Cuyahoga County common pleas court yesterday asking an injunction against Sol Comp, who plans to set up business a few blocks away and to advertise the lot as "Irishman's Corners."

Kennedy asserted that "The Smiling Irishman" is a trade name which has built his business up to nearly $400,000 yearly and that another "Irishman" in the neighborhood would confuse buyers and sellers.

Comp argued that "The Smiling Irishman hasn't got a corner on all the Irishmen. I'll fight him to the supreme court. Lawsuit or no, we're planning to open on St. Patrick's Day."

CINCINNATI, March 11—Two armed bandits held up a Cincinnati loan office this morning and escaped with between $600 and $700 in cash.

Clinic Fire Kills Nine

Carolina Mental Hospital Leveled

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 11—The bodies of nine women patients were recovered today after fire swept the mental ward of the Highland hospital here.

Thirty women patients were in the ward when the fire broke out about last midnight. All except the nine who perished were reported to have been safely removed.

Fire Chief J. T. Fitzgerald reported the flames spread so rapidly that there was no opportunity to rescue those who died in the blaze.

All of the nine victims were psychiatric patients. Two were identified by Coroner T. R. Terry as Mrs. Allen Hipps, widow of a physician, and Mrs. Bruce Kennedy, 30.

• • •

CHIEF FITZGERALD said the patients in the fire-swept ward had been locked in for the night some time before the fire was discovered.

Fitzgerald said attendants at the hospital apparently tried to release all of the patients from their locked rooms before calling firemen. He reported the fire had a big head start.

Patients who had escaped safely aided firemen in their rescue efforts, informing them where ladders could best be raised and where other patients were trapped.

Firemen were forced to chop and batter their way through heavy mesh wire covering windows both inside and out.

The building was of four stories frame construction and was entirely destroyed,

Fitzgerald said the fire started in the kitchen on the basement floor level and swept to upper floors through an elevator shaft or dumb waiter. The cause was not determined.

Chief Fitzgerald said the hospital had complied with fire safety regulations. Each floor level had porch balconies with staircases to the ground.

$5,000 Taken In For Red Cross

Approximately $5,000 had been taken during Circleville's annual American Red Cross drive Thursday, but the total is $4,000 short of the goal.

However, William Weldon, chairman of the committee, said the solicitations had not yet been completed and that all money had not been reported.

The money derived from the current drive is to be used partially to establish a blood bank.

The bank will be set up to replenish the dwindling supplies in American hospitals, and the blood will be given free to those in need.

Also of importance is the "disaster fund" which was found helpful in Circleville during the flood last Summer, and on a national scale in the disasters such as in Texas City, major floods, tornadoes and fires.

Indicted Again

BALTIMORE, March 11—A federal grand jury here today indicted Murray and Henry Garsson on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in renegotiation of wartime contracts. They were convicted last year on bribery charges.

Masaryk Death Said Deep Shock

Ailing President Near Collapse

PRAGUE, March 11—Reports circulated in diplomatic circles in Prague today that President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia is seriously considering his resignation as a result of the death of Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk.

The Communist-run government at the same time urged the populace to remain calm in an obvious effort to avert any uprising in the wake of the tragic death of Masaryk which was called suicide.

Vladimir Clementis, Communist deputy foreign minister, took over the post of Masaryk temporarily today and blamed Czech "traitors" for the latter's suicide.

Reports concerning President Benes were attributed to his friends who say that the news of Masaryk's death shocked and staggered the ailing president to a point where he almost collapsed.

• • •

PRIVATE Chancellor Smutny has been with the president in the village of Sezimovo Usti since yesterday morning after Benes learned of the passing of Masaryk.

Benes, according to friends had been clinging to the hope that if he remained in office he might be able to exert a restraining influence on the Communist government, especially as far as purges are concerned.

Chancellor Smutny's office in Prague said that Benes had not resigned "up to this morning."

This statement seemed indicative of important events in the president's country residence. Also the possibility that he is being cut off from contact with the outside world.

For the first time since he went to Sezimovo Usti telephone calls to him there are being refused.

America Moves To Kill Veto In UN Council

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 11 —The United States moved today to eliminate the veto in the United Nations Security Council except in matters where sanctions and military action are involved.

Discussions on the American proposal are scheduled to start Monday when the "little assembly" begins consideration of the veto problem.

Observers held little hope for progress because the United Nations body is boycotted by Russia and her satellites.

In a suggestion submitted to the "little assembly," the United States proposed that the right to veto be abolished in all instances where only moral weight is exerted.

All decisions of the Security Council that would require action by the five permanent members (the United States, the United Kingdom, Soviet Russia, France

Couldn't Wait; But He Will

LONDON, March 11—The old parable of the dog who dropped his bone to grab at a non-existent bone reflection in the water was re-enacted today at the London prison farm.

Peter Kenziak, 41-year-old Cleveland convict who already had been granted a parole effective May 13, just couldn't wait. He walked away from the Lebanon honor camp of the London prison farm.

When he is recaptured—if he is—his parole will be revoked automatically and two years added to his sentence.

MEANWHILE the Communists resumed their efforts to blame Western propaganda for Masaryk's act.

The newspaper Mlada Fronta —Youth Front—asserted that a London radio broadcast Tuesday night seriously affected Masaryk.

According to the newspaper, the London broadcast attacked Masaryk personally by declaring his association with the new Prague government was an act of "treachery against democracy."

This organ, attempting to drum up hatred of the West in connection with the death of Masaryk, carried a summary of British, French, Dutch and Swiss newspaper attacks against the foreign minister before he died.

The newspaper asserted that American press comment was "so scandalous" that it was not printable.

American Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt meanwhile called on Clementis to express the condolences of the United States government.

In Washington, the State department refused to accept the label of "suicide" on the death of Masaryk but cited it as evidence of the "reign of terror" which exists in Czechoslovakia.

SECRETARY of State George C. Marshall interpreted Masaryk's sudden and mysterious demise as a warning that the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia justifies "great fears as to developments" in a world finding itself in a "very-very serious" situation.

Marshall's words came in the midst of a news conference and appeared impromptu. But they carried all the great force and feeling which the stoic soldier and World War II chief of staff can show on occasion.

When questioned directly on whether the United States considered Masaryk's death as "suicide" he refrained from answering.

Lad Fined $10 In Traffic Case

Marvin Rowland, 16-year-old farmer of Circleville Route 3, was fined $10 and costs in Pickaway County juvenile court Tuesday, costs suspended, for failure to yield the right of way to a north-bound auto at the intersection of Court and Mill streets.

City police said Rowland turned the auto he was driving southward into the side of the approaching car, owned by Dale Harrel.

State Sales Tax Report Shows Business Continues Climb Here

For the second week in succession, Pickaway County sales tax receipts show an increased volume of business both in weekly sales and in comparison to total intake this year and in 1947.

Collections for the week ending Feb. 28, according to State Treasurer Don H. Ebright's report, shows $4,278.80. This is an increase of $1,134.87 over the previous week and $650.59 more than was taken in during the same period last year.

Total collections to date are $28,845.20, which is a $4,035.29 increase over total collections of the same period in 1947, Ebright disclosed.

* * *

THE INCREASING volume of business is reflected in climbing gross sales in various county industries. Chain stores showed a weekly increase in sales tax receipts of $29,161.45, for the week ending Feb. 28. Collections for the week were $536,812.01.

For the same week, automotive sales showed an even greater increase. The industry turned in $519,170.27, an increase of $44,-913.16 compared to the previous week.

The state treasury shows a balance of $272,202,006.28 at the close of March 5. Expenditures for the week totalled $28,974,185.-23, Ebright reports.

Future Bright For Would-Be Grade Teachers

PORTSMOUTH, March 11—A bright future was seen today for young men and women preparing to become elementary school teachers.

However, Harold J. Bowers, who is teacher training and certification head for the State Department of Education, foresaw less hope of employment for those who desire to become high school teachers.

In an address before a Portsmouth conference of school and college educators and civic leaders, Bowers pointed out the elementary school enrollment will increase rapidly during the next few years.

He predicted new careers in elementary teaching will open at the rate of three thousand per year in Ohio. However, he said there will be surplus of high school teachers in a few years.

The one-day Portsmouth meeting was devoted to the problem of teacher training and recruitment and is the first in a series of 14 regional meetings being held throughout the state this month.

Population Rise Hitting Record, Bureau Claims

WASHINGTON, March 11 — The Census Bureau reported today that the nation's population increased at a record rate during 1947 due to an unprecedented number of births and a low death rate.

Census Director J. C. Capt reported that nearly four million births were recorded during the year while the death rate remained low.

The 1947 population increase totaled two million, 667 thousand persons—nearly seven times above the previous record jump in 1946.

Capt estimated that these factors pushed the total population to an all-time high of 145 million, 340 thousand persons, including those in the armed forces overseas.

The birth rate in 1947 was 27.1 births per 1,000 of the population, the highest since records were first kept in 1915.

Capt said that a net immigration of about 215,000 persons during the year also contributed to the population rise.

MEANWHILE charges that Russia directed Czech Communists to overthrow free government in Eastern Europe's once most democratic state rest in the United Nations "dead letter file".

A showdown between the Soviet Union and the West was narrowly averted yesterday after the charges were made by Jan Papanek, the Czech delegate to UN.

Security Council members appeared relieved when UN Secretary General Trygve Lie placed Papanek's letter in a "routine" file.

It will not be acted on unless some member government of UN champions Papanek's case. It appears that none is ready for theo showdown such action will provoke.

Alimony Suit Filed Here

Suit for alimony has been filed in Pickaway County common pleas court by Audrey Adkins against David Adkins, who is accused in her petition of failing to provide for his wife and child.

Mrs. Adkins' petition claims they were married Dec. 18, 1944 in Madison, Wis., and since that time he has squandered his earnings and neglected to support them.

During the present action, the plaintiff asks for custody of the child.

Dairy Expert Blasts Oleo Tax Repeal Proposal

WASHINGTON, March 11 — A spokesman for the dairy farmers today blasted proposed repeal of the margarine tax as a threat to the economic life of the milk producers.

Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation, opposed repeal of the tax in testimony before the House agriculture committee. The committee is studying 19 bills, which would repeal or revise the entire margarine tax structure. The committee will make a report to the House at the end of the hearing.

Holman told the group he believed there has been "no important change in the production and sale of oleo nor in the relationship of oleo and. . .butter" such as would warrant congressional action to change the laws. He said:

"Precipitant action at this time by the Congress. . .would undoubtedly result in great damage to the dairy farmers of the country and increase the cost of oleomargarine to consumers."

Holman termed butter the "balance wheel of the dairy industry."

He said a weakening of butter's competitive position through repeal of the tax would "wreak navoc upon the dairy industry, reduce the dairy farmers' income and curtail the total quantity of dairy products, thereby bringing additional ills upon the consumers both as to quantity and costs."

Bob Bowsher Trophy Now On Display

John Hardin, superintendent of Pickaway township high school, will be the principal speaker.

Judd Lanman, superintendent of Deercreek high school, said the dinner would start about 6:30.

The Bob Bowsher Memorial Trophy will be held by Pickleseimer until the 1949 County Class B basketball tournament when he will turn the award over to next year's winner.

In all probability, the trophy will be kept in Deercreek high school's trophy case.

The Memorial Trophy is a revolving trophy and will be handed down year to year from each successive "most outstanding player" to the next.

The award is based on three major points: (a) the individual's value to his team, (b) his general attitude on the playing floor whether winning or losing, and (c) his scholastic standing.

Pickleseimer, in the estimation of the 11 county coaches, met these requirements and stood head-and-shoulders above all other county eligibles.

Suspect Bound To Grand Jury

Harry Wilkey, 53, suspected of embezzling $3,800 at the William Johnson pharmacy in Williamsport, where he had been employed for less than a year, was bound to Pickaway County grand jury Wednesday under $5,000 bond.

When brought before Magistrate H. D. Eveland, Wilkey pleaded innocent to the accusations. He was remanded to county jail in default of bond payment.

The suspect was arrested Tuesday night by Deputy Sheriff Vern L. Pontius on a warrant signed by Johnson.

Pontius said he and Johnson hid behind a wall Monday night and watched Wilkey for three hours.

"In that time," Pontius said, "we saw him pocket about $1.60."

The store owner became suspicious when a Columbus auditor showed where someone had embezzled approximately $3,800 over a period of time.

MRS. HATTIE HAMILTON

Mrs. Hattie B. Hamilton, 77, died in her home near New Holland at 1:30 a. m. Thursday following a brief illness of three days.

Born in Walnut Township the daughter of Frank and Anna Davis Brown, Mrs. Hamilton moved to the New Holland vicinity about 15 years ago, and had been a resident of the Atlanta and New Holland communities since that time.

Mrs. Hamilton was preceeded in death by her husband, James, who died two years ago.

Surviving Mrs. Hamilton are three sons, Ray, at home; Reeb of Washington C. H.; and John of Williamsport; two brothers, Reber Brown, of Canal Winchester and Chester Brown of near Circleville; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the Kirkpatrick and Sons funeral home in New Holland at 2 p. m. Sunday, the Rev. W. A. Ervin officiating. Burial will be in Reber Hill cemetery, Walnut Township.

Friends may call at the funeral home until time for services, and are asked to omit flowers.

LAWRENCE LEASURE

Thirteen-months-old Lawrence Eugene Leasure, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leasure of Amanda Route 1, died Wednesday morning at his home.

A relative said doctors, who examined the baby believed death was caused by a congestion in the throat which caused the child to strangle.

He was born Jan. 18, 1947, at Berger hospital. Surviving besides the parents are his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leasure of Darbyville; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Keleshian of Avon, Mass.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Friday at the Van Cleve mortuary in Amanda. Burial will be in Circleville Forest cemetery.

MRS. ELLEN MOWERY

Mrs. Ellen Mowery, 77, of East Main street, died Wednesday evening in Berger hospital. She was the widow of William Mowery and formerly lived in Saltcreek township.

She was a daughter of the late Henry and Rachael Bochert of Saltcreek township, a member of the Pleasant View Evangelical United Brethren church and the Aid Society of that church.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Julia Francis of Jackson Center, and Mrs. Jeane Shupe of Laurelville, and a number of nephews and nieces.

The body was removed to Defenbaugh funeral home pending funeral arrangements.

MRS. MARGARET CHAMBERS

Mrs. Margaret Chambers, 70, died in her sleep Wednesday afternoon in the home of her son, Parnell, in Perry Township, Hocking County.

Born in County Tyrone, Ireland Mrs. Chambers entered the U. S. in 1888.

Surviving Mrs. Chambers, in addition to her son, are three grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

The body has been removed to the Defenbaugh funeral home pending further funeral arrangements.

State Sales Tax Report Shows Business Continues Climb Here

For the second week in succession, Pickaway County sales tax receipts show an increased volume of business both in weekly sales and in comparison to total intake this year and in 1947.

Collections for the week ending Feb. 28, according to State Treasurer Don H. Ebright's report, shows $4,278.80. This is an increase of $1,134.87 over the previous week and $650.59 more than was taken in during the same period last year.

Total collections to date are $28,845.20, which is a $4,035.29 increase over total collections of the same period in 1947, Ebright disclosed.

• • •

THE INCREASING volume of business is reflected in climbing gross sales in various county industries. Chain stores showed a weekly increase in sales tax receipts of $29,161.45, for the week ending Feb. 28. Collections for the week were $536,812.01.

For the same week, automotive sales showed an even greater increase. The industry turned in $519,170.27, an increase of $44,-913.16 compared to the previous week.

The state treasury shows a balance of $272,202,006.28 at the close of March 5. Expenditures for the week totalled $28,974,185.-23, Ebright reports.

Future Bright For Would-Be Grade Teachers

PORTSMOUTH, March 11—A bright future was seen today for young men and women preparing to become elementary school teachers.

However, Harold J. Bowers, who is teacher training and certification head for the State Department of Education, foresaw less hope of employment for those who desire to become high school teachers.

In an address before a Portsmouth conference of school and college educators and civic leaders, Bowers pointed out the elementary school enrollment will increase rapidly during the next few years.

He predicted new careers in elementary teaching will open at the rate of three thousand per year in Ohio. However, he said there will be surplus of high school teachers in a few years.

The one-day Portsmouth meeting was devoted to the problem of teacher training and recruitment and is the first in a series of 14 regional meetings being held throughout the state this month.

Population Rise Hitting Record, Bureau Claims

WASHINGTON, March 11 — The Census Bureau reported today that the nation's population increased at a record rate during 1947 due to an unprecedented number of births and a low death rate.

Census Director J. C. Capt reported that nearly four million births were recorded during the year while the death rate remained low.

The 1947 population increase totaled two million, 667 thousand persons—nearly seven times above the previous record jump in 1946.

Capt estimated that these factors pushed the total population to an all-time high of 145 million, 340 thousand persons, including those in the armed forces overseas.

The birth rate in 1947 was 27.1 births per 1,000 of the population, the highest since records were first kept in 1915.

Capt said that a net immigration of about 215,000 persons during the year also contributed to the population rise.

3 Pairs Get Licenses

Snow or no snow, here is evidence that Spring is just around the corner. Marriage licenses were issued to three couples Wednesday in probate court.

First on the list was Donald Elmer Valentine, 23, of 410 East Mound street, a dairyman, and Donna Lee Merriman, 336 East Union street. Next was James Howard Nungester, 28, Kingston Route 1, a farmer, and Edna Belle Wagner, Orient Route 1. James Link Brown, 30, Groveport, a farmer, and Edith Toliver, Ashville, also decided to make the leap.

Aide Named

Judge Sterling M. Lamb Wednesday appointed Edwin Walters administrator of the Mary Malone estate in Pickaway County probate court. The selected appraisers were Willard Timmons, Ralph Walters and D. D. Dowden.

MEANWHILE charges that Russia directed Czech Communists to overthrow free government in Eastern Europe's once most democratic state rest in the United Nations "dead letter file".

A showdown between the Soviet Union and the West was narrowly averted yesterday after the charges were made by Jan Papanek, the Czech delegate to UN.

Security Council members appeared relieved when UN Secretary General Trygve Lie placed Papanek's letter in a "routine" file.

It will not be acted on unless some member government of UN champions Papanek's case. It appears that none is ready for theo showndown such action will provoke.

Alimony Suit Filed Here

Suit for alimony has been filed in Pickaway County common pleas court by Audrey Adkins against David Adkins, who is accused in her petition of failing to provide for his wife and child.

Mrs. Adkins' petition claims they were married Dec. 18, 1944 in Madison, Wis., and since that time he has squandered his earnings and neglected to support them.

During the present action, the plaintiff asks for custody of the child.

Dairy Expert Blasts Oleo Tax Repeal Proposal

WASHINGTON, March 11 — A spokesman for the dairy farmers today blasted proposed repeal of the margarine tax as a threat to the economic life of the milk producers.

Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation, opposed repeal of the tax in testimony before the House agriculture committee. The committee is studying 19 bills, which would repeal or revise the entire margarine tax structure. The committee will make a report to the House at the end of the hearing.

Holman told the group he believed there has been "no important change in the production and sale of oleo nor in the relationship of oleo and. . .butter" such as would warrant congressional action to change the laws. He said:

"Precipitant action at this time by the Congress. . .would undoubtedly result in great damage to the dairy farmers of the country and increase the cost of oleomargarine to consumers."

Holman termed butter the "balance wheel of the dairy industry."

He said a weakening of butter's competitive position through repeal of the tax would "wreak navoc upon the dairy industry, reduce the dairy farmers' income and curtail the total quantity of dairy products, thereby bringing additional ills upon the consumers both as to quantity and costs."

Bob Bowsher Trophy Now On Display

John Hardin, superintendent of Pickaway township high school, will be the principal speaker.

Judd Lanman, superintendent of Deercreek high school, said the dinner would start about 6:30.

The Bob Bowsher Memorial Trophy will be held by Pickleseimer until the 1949 County Class B basketball tournament when he will turn the award over to next year's winner.

In all probability, the trophy will be kept in Deercreek high school's trophy case.

The Memorial Trophy is a revolving trophy and will be handed down year to year from each successive "most outstanding player" to the next.

The award is based on three major points: (a) the individual's value to his team, (b) his general attitude on the playing floor whether winning or losing, and (c) his scholastic standing.

Pickleseimer, in the estimation of the 11 county coaches, met these requirements and stood head-and-shoulders above all other county eligibles.

Suspect Bound To Grand Jury

Harry Wilkey, 53, suspected of embezzling $3,800 at the William Johnson pharmacy in Williamsport, where he had been employed for less than a year, was bound to Pickaway County grand jury Wednesday under $5,000 bond.

When brought before Magistrate H. D. Eveland, Wilkey pleaded innocent to the accusations. He was remanded to county jail in default of bond payment.

The suspect was arrested Tuesday night by Deputy Sheriff Vern L. Pontius on a warrant signed by Johnson.

Pontius said he and Johnson hid behind a wall Monday night and watched Wilkey for three hours.

"In that time," Pontius said, "we saw him pocket about $1.60."

The store owner became suspicious when a Columbus auditor showed where someone had embezzled approximately $3,800 over a period of time.

ABYSMALLY IGNORANT

U.S. Unionist Says Reds Understand Tough Talk

BERLIN, March 11—James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, ridiculed the bogey of Soviet power today and said the United States should strive to defeat the Russians "on every level."

Carey said:

"I don't understand the fear of Russia in the United States. People talk too much about the atom bomb and the Red army. We should make it a point to defeat Russia on every level—in every contest."

Carey talked in Moscow with Russian trade union leaders on the Marshall Plan.

In the heart of the Soviet capital, he reitered the CIO's determination to rally all possible European Trade Union support behind the Marshall Plan. He reported:

"We talked bluntly across the table. There was no diplomatic language used. Sometimes the talk got pretty rough.

* * *

"WE TOLD the Russians every trade union in every country has the right to back the Marshall Plan if they wish and we were going to see they get it."

Carey cited the Moscow talks to drive home his contention the Russians will listen only to tough talk and will be impressed only by a show of overpowering strength on every front—be it trade union talks, a diplomatic conference or a chess match.

With ERP threatening to burst open the World Federation of Trade Unions the Russians backed down and agreed to a discussion of the plan at the next WFTU executive committee meeting.

Carey said he ridiculed the Russians' assertions the European Recovery Program was "political." He continued:

"I told them they didn't consider lend-lease 'political.' Then they took $10 billion of the American taxpayers' - money, with plenty of strings attached.

* * *

"NOW THEY DON'T want European workers to let American taxpayers help them feed their families, with no strings attached."

Carey said he needled the Russians:

"What's the matter with you Communists. All the old Communists I used to know wanted to talk and talk. Now none of you want to talk—about the Marshall Plan."

Carey explained with grim humor:

"A union leader gets the kind of tough training needed to deal with the Russians. He battles in the local committees, the district committees, national committees and then with employers."

The CIO leader said "the Russians are extremely sensitive to labor opinion in the United States." He added:

"The Russians realize when they completely break with American labor they have lost their last claim to having any friends among the American people.

"They want badly to prevent a breakup of the WFTU but the honeymoon is over. The Russians want their own way in the WFTU—but they're not going to get it."

* * *

CAREY REVEALED some of the top Russian leaders are abysmally ignorant about American politics. He related an incident involving S. N. Rostovsky, head of the Russian trade union's international department:

"Part of Rostovsky's job, mind you, is to 'interpret the Western mind' to the Politburo. He asked me about Wallace's third party and why we weren't backing it.

"I went into the whole situation, explaining it had no labor strength and was only a scattering of intellectuals and a few New York lawyers.

"After I finished a great thought flashed on Rostovsky. 'Why,' he said enthusiastically, 'don't you just have two parties—a labor party and Wallace's party!'

"That was even too much for (B. B.) Kuznetsov (Russian trade union president). Kuznetsov worked at the Ford plant at River Rouge and he just roared laughing while I explained the Republicans and Democrats might not consent to having themselves liquidated."

Defense Plea In Case Awaited

CLEVELAND, March 11—Defense counsel for Harold A. Beach, confessed knife-slayer of Sheila Ann Tuley, makes a final plea in behalf of the 22-year-old ex-convict before turning his fate over to the jury today for a life-or-death decision.

Assistant Cuyahoga County Prosecutor Victor Demarco made an impassioned final argument for the state yesterday in calling upon the jury to return a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Before Demarco began his summary of the events leading up to the blonde, eight-year-old girl's death on New Year's night on Cleveland's east side, Judge Samuel H. Silbert turned down a defense request for special charges before the closing arguments.

Wages Assured By Distillery

CINCINNATI, March 11—Full normal earnings up to 16 weeks are assured over 5,700 plant and office employes at Schenley Distillers Corp., affiliates in Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio in event of occupational accident or illness.

H. C. Phillips, industrial relations director for Schenley, announced the plan as an expansion of the company's employe security program. He said the company would make up the cash difference between whatever a totally disabled employe gets from workmen's compensation and his regular wage for the first 16 weeks.

For the next 36 weeks, workmen's compensation and company payments will provide him two-thirds of his wage, if the disability continues.

ABYSMALLY IGNORANT

U.S. Unionist Says Reds Understand Tough Talk

BERLIN, March 11—James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, ridiculed the bogey of Soviet power today and said the United States should strive to defeat the Russians "on every level."

Carey said:

"I don't understand the fear of Russia in the United States. People talk too much about the atom bomb and the Red army. We should make it a point to defeat Russia on every level—in every contest."

Carey talked in Moscow with Russian trade union leaders on the Marshall Plan.

In the heart of the Soviet capital, he reitered the CIO's determination to rally all possible European Trade Union support behind the Marshall Plan. He reported:

"We talked bluntly across the table. There was no diplomatic language used. Sometimes the talk got pretty rough.

• • •

"WE TOLD the Russians every trade union in every country has the right to back the Marshall Plan if they wish and we were going to see they get it."

Carey cited the Moscow talks to drive home his contention the Russians will listen only to tough talk and will be impressed only by a show of overpowering strength on every front—be it trade union talks, a diplomatic conference or a chess match.

With ERP threatening to burst open the World Federation of Trade Unions the Russians backed down and agreed to a discussion of the plan at the next WFTU executive committee meeting.

Carey said he ridiculed the Russians' assertions the European Recovery Program was "political." He continued:

"I told them they didn't consider lend-lease 'political.' Then they took $10 billion of the American taxpayers' - money, with plenty of strings attached.

• • •

"NOW THEY DON'T want European workers to let American taxpayers help them feed their families, with no strings attached."

Carey said he needled the Russians:

"What's the matter with you Communists. All the old Communists I used to know wanted to talk and talk. Now none of you want to talk—about the Marshall Plan."

Carey explained with grim humor:

"A union leader gets the kind of tough training needed to deal with the Russians. He battles in the local committees, the district committees, national committees and then with employers."

The CIO leader said "the Russians are extremely sensitive to labor opinion in the United States." He added:

"The Russians realize when they completely break with American labor they have lost their last claim to having any friends among the American people.

"They want badly to prevent a breakup of the WFTU but the honeymoon is over. The Russians want their own way in the WFTU—but they're not going to get it."

• • •

CAREY REVEALED some of the top Russian leaders are abysmally ignorant about American politics. He related an incident involving S. N. Rostovsky, head of the Russian trade union's international department:

"Part of Rostovsky's job, mind you, is to 'interpret the Western mind' to the Politburo. He asked me about Wallace's third party and why we weren't backing it.

"I went into the whole situation, explaining it had no labor strength and was only a scattering of intellectuals and a few New York lawyers.

"After I finished a great thought flashed on Rostovsky. 'Why,' he said enthusiastically, 'don't you just have two parties—a labor party and Wallace's party!'

"That was even too much for (B. B.) Kuznetsov (Russian trade union president). Kuznetsov worked at the Ford plant at River Rouge and he just roared laughing while I explained the Republicans and Democrats might not consent to having themselves liquidated."

Defense Plea In Case Awaited

CLEVELAND, March 11—Defense counsel for Harold A. Beach, confessed knife-slayer of Sheila Ann Tuley, makes a final plea in behalf of the 22-year-old ex-convict before turning his fate over to the jury today for a life-or-death decision.

Assistant Cuyahoga County Prosecutor Victor Demarco made an impassioned final argument for the state yesterday in calling upon the jury to return a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Before Demarco began his summary of the events leading up to the blonde, eight-year-old girl's death on New Year's night on Cleveland's east side, Judge Samuel H. Silbert turned down a defense request for special charges before the closing arguments.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Wages Assured By Distillery

CINCINNATI, March 11—Full normal earnings up to 16 weeks are assured over 5,700 plant and office employes at Schenley Distillers Corp., affiliates in Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio in event of occupational accident or illness.

H. C. Phillips, industrial relations director for Schenley, announced the plan as an expansion of the company's employe security program. He said the company would make up the cash difference between whatever a totally disabled employe gets from workmen's compensation and his regular wage for the first 16 weeks.

For the next 36 weeks, workmen's compensation and company payments will provide him two-thirds of his wage, if the disability continues.

UN Balkan Panel Sets Peace Plan

Formula Sent To Guerrillas

WASHINGTON, March 11—The United Nations Balkan Inspection Commission has formulated a model solution for the border problems which lie at the base of the Greek civil war.

This was reported today in official dispatches to the State department.

The formula, submitted by the Greek liaison officer with the border commission, soon will be sent to the border states whence Greek guerrillas operate. If no answer is received, the formula will be submitted to the UN in New York.

Thus far all communications from the commission to the Balkan governments themselves, have remained unanswered.

* * *

THE BALKAN policy of not communicating with the commission stems from a series of letters to the UN all similarly written and apparently on instructions from Moscow.

These refused to recognize the legality of the commission. Russia and her satellites opposed its creation before the UN General Assembly.

Despite the fact that the Balkan states have not permitted the commission to observe matters in their territory, six teams are watching closely the military action from the Greek side.

They are located along the Albania, Bulgarian, Yugoslav and Turkish frontiers as well as in Thrace. At the Turkish frontier it was said, guerrilla operations are at a minimum and apparently aim at converting the Turks to the anti-Greek, pro-Communist cause. The results were said to be far from successful.

General Markos, leader of the self-styled Greek guerrilla government, has announced that any observers captured by the guerrillas will be treated as war prisoners, an unprecedented decree in international law.

The guerrillas' supporters have made several reports to the UN secretary general, Trygvie Lie, complaining of the commission's activities.

* * *

THESE HAVE centered chiefly on alleged violations of nearby borders by Greek planes and artillery fire.

When these notes have been forwarded to the commission, it has asked the Balkan powers each time to permit members to enter to inspect these violations. Since no reply has been made at any time, the commission believes the protests have been sent solely to use as propaganda over Balkan radio transmitters against UN and the West.

Ben's Bride Gets Chickenhearted

Ben Ryder was mighty proud of his young bride when she offered to care for his new flock of baby chicks. "Just like a mother with her brood," he boasts.

Then came market time for fryers—and the crisis! Sue simply wouldn't let Ben near her chickens with an axe. She'd raised them as babes ... she'd named them ... they were her very own!

Ben poured himself a glass of beer, to think things over sensibly. He hated to lose the price on fryers ... but he figured Sue had put up with his peculiarities, he guessed he could put up with her fondness for the chickens.

So now Ben has the nicest brood of laying hens in town, and from where I sit, one of the most successful marriages, too. All because he "lived-and-let-live"—literally. And whenever he wants fried chicken, he takes his bride over to Andy's Garden Tavern for a crisp wing and a glass of beer.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Ben's Bride Gets Chickenhearted

Ben Ryder was mighty proud of his young bride when she offered to care for his new flock of baby chicks. "Just like a mother with her brood," he boasts.

Then came market time for fryers—and the crisis! Sue simply wouldn't let Ben near her chickens with an axe. She'd raised them as babes . . . she'd named them . . . they were her very own!

Ben poured himself a glass of beer, to think things over sensibly. He hated to lose the price on fryers . . . but he figured Sue had put up with his peculiarities, he guessed he could put up with her fondness for the chickens.

So now Ben has the nicest brood of laying hens in town, and from where I sit, one of the most successful marriages, too. All because he "lived-and-let-live"—literally. And whenever he wants fried chicken, he takes his bride over to Andy's Garden Tavern for a crisp wing and a glass of beer.

Nutrition Talks Set In Columbus

Farm, Home Week Program Booked

COLUMBUS, March 11—Homemakers interested in providing better, faster, more nutritious meals for themselves and their families would do well to red-circle the dates March 23-26 on their calendars.

Better still, they might start getting ready now to attend the six special sessions on foods and nutritions scheduled to be held in connection with the 36th annual Farm and Home Week at Ohio State university, on the dates mentioned.

Helpful hints on quick meals for busy homemakers, up-to-the minute news on nutrition, and practical demonstrations and discussions on meal planning and preparation are a few of the items featured on the very complete home economics program.

One of the top-flight speakers scheduled to appear on the March 24 morning program is Miss Jean I. Simpson, chief of the research kitchens of the Frozen Food Foundation, in Syracuse, N. Y., and an authority on the freezing of prepared foods.

• • •

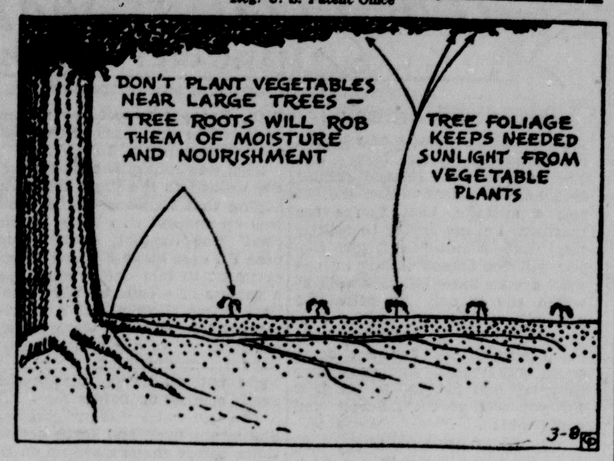
MISS SIMPSON has had years of experience in recipe and menu development, some of which were spent as food specialist in the modern homemaking department of the Ladies Home Journal. She was also associate professor of home economics and assistant chief of the experiment station at the University of Illinois, before joining the staff of the Frozen Food Foundation.

In addition to Miss Simpson, March 24 speakers include staff members of Ohio State's school of home economics, Dr. Eva Donelson Wilson, Mrs. Mary Brown Patton and Dr. Inez Prudent, who will take part in a panel discussion of "What's New In Foods and Nutrition?" with questions and answers on the same subject being handled by two extension specialists, Alma Garvin and Marian Moore.

Tips on quick meals will be given by Mrs. Jessie Craig Obert, associate professor of home economics at Ohio State, in a demonstration meeting March 25 and Miss LeVelle Wood, another Ohio State home economics staffer, will discuss the planning of community meals.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Reg. U. S. Patent Office



Selecting Site for Freedom Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Distributed by Central Press Association

IF YOUR home vegetable garden is to be one of the twenty million Freedom gardens America needs this year for supplemental food supplies select the site carefully.

Vegetables and fruits from these Freedom gardens will make a real contribution to the total civilian food supply, especially of those vital elements—the vitamins and minerals needed for sustained well-being.

Nutritionists know that good food habits require eating from four to seven servings of vegetables daily. Your Freedom garden will make it possible for you and your family to meet these nutrition requirements despite the prospects of food shortages this summer.

Choosing the site for a Freedom garden is of utmost importance, whether you live in the city, town or suburbs. The site selected should get lots of sun, should not have standing water even after heavy rains, and the soil, for ideal gardening, should be rich loam that is easily worked.

The backyard Freedom gardener must take care not to lay out the vegetable garden partly under, or too near large trees. Vegetable plans thus placed will not develop properly, since the tree roots, illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, deprive the soil of food and moisture. Overhanging tree foliage, as illustrated, will keep needed sunlight from the vegetable plants.

Make sure the garden site you choose will have plenty of sunlight, at least from 9 in the morning until 3 in the afternoon.

Beery Replaces Chief Hinton

Columbus had a reorganized police department Thursday, effected within a few hours after the new chief, Charles M. Berry, assumed control.

Resigned Chief Howard B. Hinton, formerly of Pickaway County, went back as boss of the third, or night, platoon at his own request.

Sgt. Roy Morgan was given control of the juvenile and social bureau which Berry established. Berry also ordered four other new transfers and assignments.

Federal prisons in the United States are under the control of the attorney general.

FREEING GERMAN MINDS

THE American way of free and open discussion of public affairs, accompanied by unrestrained criticism of government and of holders of public office has heretofore been unknown to the German people. They have followed where they were led, and swallowd their critical opinons. Major Ralph Lewis, in charge of the American zone's information center in Heidelberg, decided that such forums were what the Germans needed to change the current of their thought.

Major Lewis has organized six discussion groups in Heidelberg, which meet every two weeks in American homes there. Eight or ten Germans are the guests of each American family, the Germans choosing the subjects for discussion and preparing the material. The Americans do not guide or lead, merely participating in the discussion and serving coffee and cigarettes. Among the subjects chosen by the Germans are such touchy ones as American occupation policies, anti-Semitism and de-nazification.

These meetings should have the effect of a clean, strong wind blowing through a stuffy building, tearing down cobwebs and making way for a new atmosphere. The free discussion of such crucial topics, bringing opinions out into the open, may help some Germans to be less sheeplike in the future.

Democracy thrives on Town Meeting methods.

POLITICAL DREAM

"RUN a Southern presidential candidate, and we can cause a deadlock in the electoral college. Then the House of Representatives will choose the Southerner for president." Thus Senator James O. Eastland of Mississippi tickles the ears of his hearers.

It may be nice to dream of, but it is no more than a dream. When the House votes for a president after the electoral college has failed to produce a majority, the vote is by state units. The Republicans have the majority of 29 state delegations to the Democrats' 17. Montana and Utah are evenly divided.

The Southern bolters doubtless feel that they have earned Republican gratitude because for years they have steadfastly supported Republican legislative measures. But no amount of gratitude will persuade the Republicans to surrender the presidency when they have it in their hands. If there is an electoral deadlock, the Republican nominee will be the next president.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Principles of administrative conduct are involved in the Condon Case which transcend the learned doctor, the secretary of commerce and even the President himself.

1. Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the National Bureau of Standards, is accused by the FBI and the Thomas committee of serious indiscretion in the performance of his public duty and his private life related to public duty. So far as the public knows, he is accused neither of disloyalty nor espionage. Nevertheless, it is known, from the general tenor of the gossip attending the special federal grand jury, sitting in New York, that there has been disloyalty and espionage in connection with the atom bomb. That makes any reference to an individual in connection with the atom bomb significant.

2. In relation to the Condon Case, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, addressed a letter to Averell Harriman, secretary of commerce in whose department the Bureau of Standards is situated. Dr. Condon is, therefore, an employe of the American people.

3. Averell Harriman refuses to release the letter in "the public interest." He does not state what the public interest is but requires that the Thomas Committee accept his obiter dictum as final. Harriman is neither by the Constitution nor by his personal qualifications entitled to determine this question alone.

The power of Congress to investigate the conduct of employes of the American government is so well established by law and precedent that Harriman's attitude can only be described as presumptuous. Congress will without doubt take care of that in the proper lawful manner.

4. Only Harriman, Attorney General Tom Clark or the President can order the letter to be made public. J. Edgar Hoover, a subordinate of the attorney general, is not in a position to make it public without the attorney general's consent. Therefore, the letter remains secret because Harriman, Clark and the President wish it to remain secret. That letter from J. Edgar Hoover to Averell Harriman must contain some extremely important data to have frightened these gentlemen into making it an issue in an election year.

It throws additional light on the conduct of the special federal grand jury in New York and the many rumors concerning the quarrel between the FBI and the White House as to what national security really requires. Certainly the report that three top persons who were members of the Communist cell organized in 1934 have been let off despite FBI evidence is startling. Yet, it must be noted, none of these rumors, mounting to a furor, may be true.

5. It is because of the queer rumors concerning the special federal grand jury and speculation concerning the Hoover-Harriman letter, that Dr. Condon, if he possesses all the virtues that he claims for himself, should demand its immediate publication.

As a volunteer public relations counsel, I advise him that he will be suspected all his life unless that letter is published.

DIET AND HEALTH

The Body's Policing System

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE lymph glands are a part of the body's police system for handling unwelcome and dangerous invaders. There is a whole chain of these glands in the neck where germs from the nose, throat and ears are challenged, removed from the circulation and rendered harmless.

Since they deal so constantly with germs of every kind, it is not unusual for the lymph glands themselves to become infected and enlarged. When this occurs it is important to determine the cause of the enlargement so that treatment may be started at once.

Most Common Cause

The most common cause of enlargement of the lymph glands is probably ordinary sore throat and tonsillitis, but it may also be due to a much more serious condition—tuberculous infection.

Unfortunately, this disorder does not immediately call attention to itself. There is some swelling on one side of the neck, which may enlarge until it is about the size of a walnut. But there is no pain and it may be weeks or months before the infection breaks through to the surface.

Infected Milk

Tuberculous infection of the lymph glands, although it does not occur as often as it used to, is most commonly due to the drinking of infected milk and can be prevented by the proper pasteurization of milk. In those parts of the country where milk is properly pasteurized, tuberculous infection of the lymph glands is rare.

Enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck may be due to such general disorders affecting the blood as leukemia or Hodgkin's disease. A type of tumor, known as a lymphoblastoma, may be responsible.

There is an acute infection that occurs in young adults and children in which there is fever, enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck, as well as in the armpits and groin, redness of the throat, and an increase in the number of white cells in the blood known as mononuclear cells. This disorder, known as infectious mononucleosis, lasts for about three weeks and clears up without any particular treatment being necessary.

Of course the lymph glands in the neck may also enlarge as a result of cancer in the mouth, throat, and larynx or voicebox. Syphilis is another cause of the enlargement of these glands.

Thus, every enlargement of the lymph glands calls for a careful study by a physician. It may be possible to tell the cause merely by the type of enlargement and ascertaining whether or not the glands are painful. In some few cases it may be necessary to remove a small bit of tissue from one of the glands and to examine it under the microscope in order to make sure of the diagnosis.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. W.: I am fifty years old. Whenever I sit down, such as in the street car or church, I fall asleep. What would cause this?

Answer: There are many causes of excessive sleepiness. It may be due to constipation, although this is not a very common cause. You may not be getting sufficient outdoor exercise, or you may be eating the wrong foods. There are various diseases, other than certain brain conditions, such as encephalitis, which cause excessive sleepiness.

I suggest that you have a thorough physical examination to determine the cause of your difficulty.

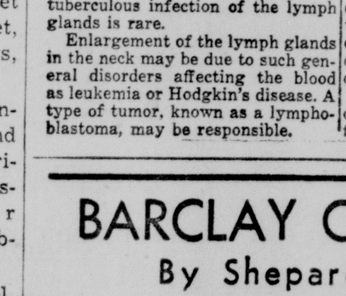
"The Authority on Authorities"

A THREE-WAY PLAY

THERE ARE frequent plays which offer two chances of success. One chance would be through the direct operation of the play itself. The other would come after its failure, from inviting a mistake by one of the defenders. On rare occasions a three-way play is encountered. First it may work by itself, bringing your contract home. Second, if it fails, one defender may make a particular error. Third, if he does not, his partner then has a chance to slip and present your contract to you.



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	Pass
2 ♦	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

East later regretted deeply that he had not passed the 1-Spade, but his side had a part score of 80, and that lured him, in the hope that West had passed almost enough to bid.

In response to the diamond call, West led the A. But when he got the 2 from East and South played the J, West switched to the club 4. The 10 from dummy brought forth the J and A. Thereupon the declarer, Fenton Johnston, one of the best in New York's University Club, went to work. With a probability of one loser each in all suits except spades, he first took out the trumps in three rounds and then made his real try for game.

It happened to be a three-way play. It was a finesse of the diamond J. If this worked, he would be home. It didn't, however, and now the second chance was at hand. If East would only lead a club, either his good K or a smaller one, two hearts could be discarded on a club and a diamond. East saw that himself, so returned a heart, the 5. South played low and let the Q win.

Now came the third chance. A club return would beat the contract, but a heart would assure it. West guessed wrong, leading the heart 3. That trapped the K, so diamonds furnished a discard of the club 5 and the rubber was in the bag.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

OBVIOUSLY Tracy saw doubt registered in Kit's face. For Tracy's own face seemed calmer and more confident. "You see. It was a mistake, Kit. You're too trusting. I'm not trying to belittle you. But—sometimes a girl like you will find herself falling in love with a man like—Mr. Griswold to whom she is only an attractive girl with whom to spend an evening when he doesn't have anything else to do. I'm not being cruel, only honest. And sometimes they try you out to—to see how far you will go . . . Surely you could meet . . ."

"My social life here is my own responsibility," Kit said.

"Of course. I'm sorry if I lost my temper. I'm beastly tired. And I don't know what's the matter with me. I'm always tired. You're doing beautifully here. You don't get in my way. Surely you aren't going to leave when I need you. I'm planning rather a big party in two weeks and there's lots to be done." The impatient motion of her hand waved Kit away. "Now be a good girl and go to bed and we won't talk any more about what happened tonight. It was just unfortunate . . ."

Kit regarded her with glistening eyes. "Wasn't it?" she asked in a lifeless voice.

Walking down the long, dark hall she felt as if some insidious poison had been injected in her. From beauty to ugliness and so soon! What an idealistic little idiot she had been. How quaint she must have seemed to Kirk who had nothing better to do this evening. Tracy's words came back to her with all their ugly insinuations.

Safe in her room, she closed the door and leaned against it. Is this my first lesson? Tracy is right. She knows more about these things than I do. Must I learn not to trust other people, not to trust my own heart? Is that what Aunt Chris meant when she wrote about "values"?

She awoke early in the sunny room. And she awoke with last night so clear in her mind that she decided to go to the pool for a swim and not think about it. The house was quiet. Tracy and her guests would not be about for hours.

In the bath house she found a black satin bathing suit her size and a tight white rubber cap. Out on the path she met Mrs. McIntyre in a broad-brimmed hat, a huge basket of flowers under her arm.

"Good morning, Miss Marshall. How do people sleep on a morning like this? You're going for a swim. Some people don't sleep half the day. I saw Mr. Griswold out riding. I think he was hoping someone over here would be up and out. Well, I've got to get the flowers arranged in the house. Now don't get too sunburned. Take care."

Kirk was riding, Kit thought, as she walked to the pool. Kirk was hoping that someone in the house was up and out . . . Tracy? Who else? She thought, I don't suppose I'll ever know if being an experiment to him one evening was a success or a failure. Why didn't he kiss me, I wonder? And why can't I forget the whole thing, check it off as one of my unsuccessful experiments? I wish I could but it's like a mirage that keeps coming up before me . . .

The cold water was invigorating. She swam back and forth several times before she climbed up on the side of the pool and freed her hair from the tight cap.

"Good morning. Swell morning," someone said.

It was Tony Merryman, lean and brown in dark swimming trunks, who sat down beside her.

He stretched out full length, cushioned his head with his arms and looked up at the early sun.

"Most people lose the best part of the day sleeping."

Kit nodded. "Only the milkman sees the dawn . . ."

Tony looked at her. "Have you ever known a milkman?"

"Yes. Not very well but our milkman in Washington has served us for many years. He has a wife, a mother and three children."

"He supports all of them on a salary of a milkman?"

She smiled. "It can be done. He's a jolly man. Big and healthy and well fed and crazy about his family."

As Tony glanced away, his dark fine brows came together. "It can be done. Um . . . Nice going. The simple life. People are always talking about going back to it but they never do. It just sounds good. And today when people are talking about making sacrifices for humanity, that's just more talk. Take something from them and they'd . . ."

"You're bitter."

"Wouldn't you be if you were I?"

Kit said carefully, "I don't know you that well."

"You know I haven't a job. Didn't you hear my wife and me having another quarrel as you came by our room? Another quarrel over a coat she just bought? We haven't any place to live but her back must be expensively covered. Sorry. This doesn't interest you. I'm letting off steam, I suppose."

Kit ventured, "There are a lot of jobs open today. Industry is booming. People are going to work . . ."

Tony looked at her and a wry smile temporarily distorted his fine features. "I mustn't get my hands dirty. My wife wouldn't forgive me or—or let me touch her. No, dirty finger nails would look quite out of place beside her new coat." He shook his head. "Sorry again. There's no reason why you should take this. Like it here? Stupid question. Who wouldn't?"

Kit remembered how close she came to not being here and also running through her mind, confusing it, was the picture of Kirk riding in the early morning . . .

"It's lovely here."

Tony looked at her kindly. "You've lasted a week. That's quite a record. Tracy is my cousin, as you probably know by now. She isn't the easiest person in the world to live with." He smiled again and there was sadness in this smile. "I'm biting the hand that feeds me and my wife. You see, I'm getting over the stage when I can kid myself that I'm having a good time, living like this." Looking away, he was thinking aloud more than speaking to her. "Leisure reaches a point when it isn't leisure, where it becomes hard work because you can hear time rushing past you, time lost that you can't get back . . ."

Kit thought, Last night—I can't get that back.

Tony looked at her. "I'll bet you couldn't love a man unless his work was an important part of him . . ."

"People have different standards, Mr. Merryman."

"But yours—what are they?"

"No, I couldn't love a man unless his work was an important part of him however insignificant his job might be to other people . . ."

"That's what I've been trying to tell Anita. She doesn't see it my way . . ."

"My aunt said that love was like friendship. You have to earn it."

"Earn friendship? Of course. I see your point." He smiled again. "There's a lot you could tell my wife if she would listen. I don't mean to make her small to you. I wouldn't hurt her for anything in the world. It's just that some of her ideas need to be changed. She's clinging to outmoded traditions. Poor Anita."

Kit could imagine just how indignant Anita would be if she ever heard her husband refer to her as "Poor Anita."

"Going in again?" Tony asked.

"No. I've work to do."

"I wish I had work to do," he said. It was as if a forlorn, wistful, lonely little boy had said, "I wish I had someone to play with . . ."

Back in her room later that morning she parted the frilly curtains and looked down at the pool. She saw a score of people in bathing suits. But two were not. Kirk and Tracy were in riding clothes . . .

MODERN MANNERS

Occasions when a man offers his arm to a woman as a matter of course are in taking her in at a formal dinner or supper at a ball; when he is an usher at a wedding, or even when walking across a ballroom. When walking in a march at a ball, young people often walk side by side, not arm-in-arm. At a public ball, during the grand march, however, arm-in-arm is the rule.

JOBS UPON A TIME

Little Peggy Ann Garner, just turned 16, began her business life as a child model, and made her screen debut at six years in a picture titled "Little Miss Thoroughbred." She won an Academy award as the most promising juvenile of the year 1945, and has led a busy screen career ever since. Peggy Ann was born in Canton, O. Sir Harry Lauder, the Scottish entertainer, began earning his living as a mill boy in a flax-spinning mill, then as a miner at Arbroath, where he made his first stage appearance. Encouraged by the praise of his fellow miners he entered vaudeville in 1909, and seven years later came to the United States where he made 27 appearances. In World War I he toured the United States selling Liberty Bonds, and in World War II entertained troops in England and France. He was knighted in 1919. He has written many books and composed the songs that made him popular. He now lives retired at Strathaven, Scotland, where his recreations are "trying to hit a wee gutty ba'; trying to catch salmon and trout, motoring and shooting."

FREEING GERMAN MINDS

THE American way of free and open discussion of public affairs, accompanied by unrestrained criticism of government and of holders of public office has heretofore been unknown to the German people. They have followed where they were led, and swallowd their critical opinons. Major Ralph Lewis, in charge of the American zone's information center in Heidelberg, decided that such forums were what the Germans needed to change the current of their thought.

Major Lewis has organized six discussion groups in Heidelberg, which meet every two weeks in American homes there. Eight or ten Germans are the guests of each American family, the Germans choosing the subjects for discussion and preparing the material. The Americans do not guide or lead, merely participating in the discussion and serving coffee and cigarettes. Among the subjects chosen by the Germans are such touchy ones as American occupation policies, anti-Semitism and de-nazification.

These meetings should have the effect of a clean, strong wind blowing through a stuffy building, tearing down cobwebs and making way for a new atmosphere. The free discussion of such crucial topics, bringing opinions out into the open, may help some Germans to be less sheeplike in the future.

Democracy thrives on Town Meeting methods.

POLITICAL DREAM

"RUN a Southern presidential candidate, and we can cause a deadlock in the electoral college. Then the House of Representatives will choose the Southerner for president." Thus Senator James O. Eastland of Mississippi tickles the ears of his hearers.

It may be nice to dream of, but it is no more than a dream. When the House votes for a president after the electoral college has failed to produce a majority, the vote is by state units. The Republicans have the majority of 29 state delegations to the Democrats' 17. Montana and Utah are evenly divided.

The Southern bolters doubtless feel that they have earned Republican gratitude because for years they have steadfastly supported Republican legislative measures. But no amount of gratitude will persuade the Republicans to surrender the presidency when they have it in their hands. If there is an electoral deadlock, the Republican nominee will be the next president.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Principles of administrative conduct are involved in the Condon Case which transcend the learned doctor, the secretary of commerce and even the President himself.

1. Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the National Bureau of Standards, is accused by the FBI and the Thomas committee of serious indiscretion in the performance of his public duty and his private life related to public duty. So far as the public knows, he is accused neither of disloyalty nor espionage. Nevertheless, it is known, from the general tenor of the gossip attending the special federal grand jury, sitting in New York, that there has been disloyalty and espionage in connection with the atom bomb. That makes any reference to an individual in connection with the atom bomb significant.

2. In relation to the Condon Case, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, addressed a letter to Averell Harriman, secretary of commerce in whose department the Bureau of Standards is situated. Dr. Condon is, therefore, an employe of the American people.

3. Averell Harriman refuses to release the letter in "the public interest." He does not state what the public interest is but requires that the Thomas Committee accept his obiter dictum as final. Harriman is neither by the Constitution nor by his personal qualifications entitled to determine this question alone.

The power of Congress to investigate the conduct of employes of the American government is so well established by law and precedent that Harriman's attitude can only be described as presumptuous. Congress will without doubt take care of that in the proper lawful manner.

4. Only Harriman, Attorney General Tom Clark or the President can order the letter to be made public. J. Edgar Hoover, a subordinate of the attorney general, is not in a position to make it public without the attorney general's consent. Therefore, the letter remains secret because Harriman, Clark and the President wish it to remain secret. That letter from J. Edgar Hoover to Averell Harriman must contain some extremely important data to have frightened these gentlemen into making it an issue in an election year.

It throws additional light on the conduct of the special federal grand jury in New York and the many rumors concerning the quarrel between the FBI and the White House as to what national security really requires. Certainly the report that three top persons who were members of the Communist cell organized in 1934 have been let off despite FBI evidence is startling. Yet, it must be noted, none of these rumors, mounting to a furor, may be true.

5. It is because of the queer rumors concerning the special federal grand jury and speculation concerning the Hoover-Harriman letter, that Dr. Condon, if he possesses all the virtues that he claims for himself, should demand its immediate publication.

As a volunteer public relations counsel, I advise him that he will be suspected all his life unless that letter is published.

DIET AND HEALTH

The Body's Policing System

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE lymph glands are a part of the body's police system for handling unwelcome and dangerous invaders. There is a whole chain of these glands in the neck where germs from the nose, throat and ears are challenged, removed from the circulation and rendered harmless.

Since they deal so constantly with germs of every kind, it is not unusual for the lymph glands themselves to become infected and enlarged. When this occurs it is important to determine the cause of the enlargement so that treatment may be started at once.

Most Common Cause

The most common cause of enlargement of the lymph glands is probably ordinary sore throat and tonsillitis, but it may also be due to a much more serious condition—tuberculous infection.

Unfortunately, this disorder does not immediately call attention to itself. There is some swelling on one side of the neck, which may enlarge until it is about the size of a walnut. But there is no pain and it may be weeks or months before the infection breaks through to the surface.

Infected Milk

Tuberculous infection of the lymph glands, although it does not occur as often as it used to, is most commonly due to the drinking of infected milk and can be prevented by the proper pasteurization of milk. In those parts of the country where milk is properly pasteurized, tuberculous infection of the lymph glands is rare.

Enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck may be due to such general disorders affecting the blood as leukemia or Hodgkin's disease. A type of tumor, known as a lymphoblastoma, may be responsible.

There is an acute infection that occurs in young adults and children in which there is fever, enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck, as well as in the armpits and groin, redness of the throat, and an increase in the number of white cells in the blood known as mononuclear cells. This disorder, known as infectious mononucleosis, lasts for about three weeks and clears up without any particular treatment being necessary.

Of course the lymph glands in the neck may also enlarge as a result of cancer in the mouth, throat, and larynx or voicebox. Syphilis is another cause of the enlargement of these glands.

Thus, every enlargement of the lymph glands calls for a careful study by a physician. It may be possible to tell the cause merely by the type of enlargement and ascertaining whether or not the glands are painful. In some few cases it may be necessary to remove a small bit of tissue from one of the glands and to examine it under the microscope in order to make sure of the diagnosis.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. W.: I am fifty years old. Whenever I sit down, such as in the street car or church, I fall asleep. What would cause this?

Answer: There are many causes of excessive sleepiness. It may be due to constipation, although this is not a very common cause. You may not be getting sufficient outdoor exercise, or you may be eating the wrong foods. There are various diseases, other than certain brain conditions, such as encephalitis, which cause excessive sleepiness.

I suggest that you have a thorough physical examination to determine the cause of your difficulty.

East later regretted deeply that he had not passed the 1-Spade, but his side had a part score of 80, and that lured him, in the hope that West had passed almost enough to bid.

In response to the diamond call, West led the A. But when he got the 2 from East and South played the J, West switched to the club 4. The 10 from dummy brought forth the J and A. Thereupon the declarer, Fenton Johnston, one of the best in New York's University Club, went to work. With a probability of one loser each in all suits except spades, he first took out the trumps in three rounds and then made his real try for game.

It happened to be a three-way play. It was a finesse of the diamond J. If this worked, he would be home. It didn't, however, and now the second chance was at hand. If East would only lead a club, either his good K or a smaller one, two hearts could be discarded on a club and a diamond. East saw that himself, so returned a heart, the 5. South played low and let the Q win.

Now came the third chance. A club return would beat the contract, but a heart would assure it. West guessed wrong, leading the heart 3. That trapped the K, so diamonds furnished a discard of the club 5 and the rubber was in the bag.

"Good morning, Miss Marshall. How do people sleep on a morning like this? You're going for a swim. Some people don't sleep half the day. I saw Mr. Griswold out riding. I think he was hoping someone over here would be up and out. Well, I've got to get the flowers arranged in the house. Now don't get too sunburned. Take care."

Kirk was riding, Kit thought, as she walked to the pool. Kirk was hoping that someone in the house was up and out . . . Tracy? Who else? She thought, I don't suppose I'll ever know if being an experiment to him one evening was a success or a failure. Why didn't he kiss me, I wonder? And why can't I forget the whole thing, check it off as one of my unsuccessful experiments? I wish I could but it's like a mirage that keeps coming up before me . . .

The cold water was invigorating. She swam back and forth several times before she climbed up on the side of the pool and freed her hair from the tight cap.

"Good morning. Swell morning," someone said.

It was Tony Merryman, lean and brown in dark swimming trunks, who sat down beside her.

He stretched out full length, cushioned his head with his arms and looked up at the early sun.

"Most people lose the best part of the day sleeping."

Kit nodded. "Only the milkman sees the dawn . . ."

Tony looked at her. "Have you ever known a milkman?"

"Yes. Not very well but our milkman in Washington has served us for many years. He has a wife, a mother and three children."

"He supports all of them on a salary of a milkman?"

She smiled. "It can be done. He's a jolly man. Big and healthy and well fed and crazy about his family."

As Tony glanced away, his dark fine brows came together. "It can be done. Um . . . Nice going. The simple life. People are always talking about going back to it but they never do. It just sounds good. And today when people are talking about making sacrifices for humanity, that's just more talk. Take something from them and they'd . . ."

"You're bitter."

"Wouldn't you be if you were I?"

Kit said carefully, "I don't know you that well."

"You know I haven't a job. Didn't you hear my wife and me having another quarrel as you came by our room? Another quarrel over a coat she just bought? We haven't any place to live but her back must be expensively covered. Sorry. This doesn't interest you. I'm letting off steam, I suppose."

Kit ventured, "There are a lot of jobs open today. Industry is booming. People are going to work . . ."

Tony looked at her and a wry smile temporarily distorted his fine features. "I mustn't get my hands dirty. My wife wouldn't forgive me or—or let me touch her. No, dirty finger nails would look quite out of place beside her new coat." He shook his head. "Sorry again. There's no reason why you should take this. Like it here? Stupid question. Who wouldn't?"

Kit remembered how close she came to not being here and also running through her mind, confusing it, was the picture of Kirk riding in the early morning . . .

"It's lovely here."

Tony looked at her kindly. "You've lasted a week. That's quite a record. Tracy is my cousin, as you probably know by now. She isn't the easiest person in the world to live with." He smiled again and there was sadness in this smile. "I'm biting the hand that feeds me and my wife. You see, I'm getting over the stage when I can kid myself that I'm having a good time, living like this." Looking away, he was thinking aloud more than speaking to her. "Leisure reaches a point when it isn't leisure, where it becomes hard work because you can hear time rushing past you, time lost that you can't get back . . ."

Kit thought, Last night—I can't get that back.

Tony looked at her. "I'll bet you couldn't love a man unless his work was an important part of him . . ."

"People have different standards, Mr. Merryman."

"But yours—what are they?"

"No, I couldn't love a man unless his work was an important part of him however insignificant his job might be to other people . . ."

"That's what I've been trying to tell Anita. She doesn't see it my way . . ."

"My aunt said that love was like friendship. You have to earn it."

"Earn friendship? Of course. I see your point." He smiled again. "There's a lot you could tell my wife if she would listen. I don't mean to make her small to you. I wouldn't hurt her for anything in the world. It's just that some of her ideas need to be changed. She's clinging to outmoded traditions. Poor Anita."

Kit could imagine just how indignant Anita would be if she ever heard her husband refer to her as "Poor Anita."

"Going in again?" Tony asked.

"No. I've work to do."

"I wish I had work to do," he said. It was as if a forlorn, wistful, lonely little boy had said, "I wish I had someone to play with . . ."

Back in her room later that morning she parted the frilly curtains and looked down at the pool. She saw a score of people in bathing suits. But two were not. Kirk and Tracy were in riding clothes . . .

MODERN MANNERS

Occasions when a man offers his arm to a woman as a matter of course are in taking her in at a formal dinner or supper at a ball; when he is an usher at a wedding, or even when walking across a ballroom. When walking in a march at a ball, young people often walk side by side, not arm-in-arm. At a public ball, during the grand march, however, arm-in-arm is the rule.

YOUR FUTURE

You can make headway at this time if you are energetic. The year ahead may, at first glance, seem somewhat disappointing and unhappy. Exercise caution in all financial matters, and neither lend, borrow nor stand guarantor.

IT HAPPENED TODAY

Renaissance Italian poet Torquate Tasso, was born March 11, 1544; Sir Alexander Mackenzie, Scottish fur trader, died in 1820, and John Chapman—"Johnny Appleseed"—died in 1817. In New York and the New England states, March 11, 1888, the Great Blizzard raged. March 11, 1941, Franklin Delano Roosevelt signed the Lend-Lease bill.

JOBS UPON A TIME

Little Peggy Ann Garner, just turned 16, began her business life as a child model, and made her screen debut at six years in a picture titled "Little Miss Thoroughbred." She won an Academy award as the most promising juvenile of the year 1945, and has led a busy screen career ever since. Peggy Ann was born in Canton, O. Sir Harry Lauder, the Scottish entertainer, began earning his living as a mill boy in a flax-spinning mill, then as a miner at Arbroath, where he made his first stage appearance. Encouraged by the praise of his fellow miners he entered vaudeville in 1909, and seven years later came to the United States where he made 27 appearances. In World War I he toured the United States selling Liberty Bonds, and in World War II entertained troops in England and France. He was knighted in 1919. He has written many books and composed the songs that made him popular. He now lives retired at Strathaven, Scotland, where his recreations are "trying to hit a wee gutty ba'; trying to catch salmon and trout, motoring and shooting."

It is costly wisdom that is bought by experience.—Roger Ascham.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Texas Senator Lee O'Daniel has a birthday today. Happy birthday, "Pappy!" Other celebrants are Jessie Matthews, English actress, and Henry Mayo, screen actor. The late King Christian X of Denmark was also born on March 11, in 1870.

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1. An ancient galley with three banks of oars.
2. The treating of disease by the application of water.
3. The unlawful, premeditated killing of a human being.

J. Richard Lawwill Heard At Circleville Garden Club Meeting

Program Held In Downs' Home

Members and guests of the Circleville Garden Club met Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Downs, North Court street, with J. Richard Lawwill, landscape architect and member of Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, as their guest speaker.

He opened his subject, "Eleanor Worthington's Garden At Adena," by telling the group that "the historical society is restoring Adena as it was in Governor Worthington's time, 1806." The restoration of the Chillicothe site will not be completed until 1952.

"Adena is open to the general public and in architectural design and the layout of its grounds is in the tradition of Colonial Virginia of the 18th century," he said.

"This fine stone house, was first known as Mount Prospect hall, and after 1811, as Adena (Persian for paradise). Adena is the story of early Ohio when Thomas Worthington was sixth governor of Ohio. The view from his study was the inspiration for the seal of Ohio," Lawwill reported.

Lawwill's committee assisted in the research, acquisition of Worthington's furnishings and other necessary work for the restoration and preservation of the landmark of Ohio history so it will stand as a state memorial.

It was noted that the Worthingtons developed semi-formal gardens in three terraces, East of the house. The first terrace was planted with rare shrubs and flowers obtained from nurseries in the East. Beyond the next two terraces were vegetable and fruit bushes.

The garden was the special interest of Mrs. Worthington and was laid out and tended by a German gardener. Beyond the garden was a large grove, planted with ornamental trees and flowers in a geometrical pattern. Roses were the favorite flower of the family while hedges of boxwood were used extensively in the gardens.

Adena remained in the hands of the Worthingtons until 1903 and then was sold to George Hunter and Clara Boggs Smith, in whose memory the estate was given to archaeological society.

In closing his address, Lawwill showed colored slides of Adena's interior, exterior, the furnishings and gardens.

Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, vice-president, conducted the business session. Mrs. Donald H. Watt, regional director, district 9, gave the Spring schedule for the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs; March 30—all day regional meeting in Lancaster in First Methodist church, Fairfield Garden Club, hostess; and a nature camp in June.

Mrs. Watt said that "Districts 9 and 3 are leading the state with 62 garden clubs each. Districts 9 and 4 have tied on new clubs organized since Jan. Ohio Association of Garden Clubs is leading the state with 456 clubs."

Mrs. Harry Smith, member of the Deercreek Garden Club, has been appointed Pickaway county contact chairman, and Mrs. Walter Hedges of the Ashville Garden Club, her assistant. They will serve with the committee on the Pickaway County Fair flower show. Mrs. Watt urged members to cooperate with the Ohio association on the wild flower conservation program at Burr Oak.

Miss Mattie Crum, Mrs. Harry Kerns, Mrs. George Welker and Mrs. Hornbeck were appointed delegates to attend the regional meeting in Lancaster.

William Cook judged the displays. Mrs. George Welker won first in Class 1, "centerpiece of fruit" and Mrs. Leslie Pontius was named second.

War Bonus Procedure Detailed

5-Step Plan Followed

COLUMBUS, March 11—With applications still coming into bonus headquarters at a rate of more than 12,000 a day, Maj. Gen. Chester W. Goble, director of Ohio's World War II compensation fund, said that applications are now being opened in the mailing room at a rate of more than 10,000 per day.

Here the claims are dated and original documents listed. This is the first step.

Second step: Numbering section. From the mail-opening stage, the applications go to the numbering section. Here all papers are put into folders, the claim numbers affixed to the application form and the folder and all necessary original documents stamped: "World War II Compensation Fund Applied For".

Third step: Acknowledgment section. From the numbering section the claim files go to the acknowledgment section where the special "snap-out" form is prepared for each claim. In one typing operation the acknowledgment is prepared along with the 3 x 5 alphabetical index card, the 3 x 5 numerical claim file index card, the change of address form and the label for the return evelope.

Fourth step: Photostat section. The next step is to photocopy the necessary original documents and to replace the original documents in the claim file with the photocopies.

Fifth step: Acknowledgment section. After the acknowledgment section receives the photocopies from the photostat section, the original papers are rechecked against the record made when the envelope was opened in the first step and are returned in a similar "Do Not Bend" envelope to that in which the veteran mailed in his application.

• • •

AFTER THE original papers and the acknowledgment forms are returned to the applicant, the claim folder with application form and photocopies of the necessary supporting documents are placed in steel files ready for the examining section.

"From the time of the arrival of the first applications March 2 we have been slowly starting our previously planned machinery," Goble stated.

"It is necessary to carefully train and supervise our personnel at each of the above stages to insure against mistakes," he said.;

"We have been training our examining staff to stress completeness and accuracy. When the personnel of every department is completely organized, trained and double-checked, we expect to speed up our entire processing procedure," Goble explained.

Volume, Prices Both Show Drop In Stock Sale

Both volume and prices took a dip at the Pickaway County Livestock Association stockyard auctions Wednesday, a total of only 733 head offered on the market as compared to the 1,132 sold last week, and prices emphasizing a slight drop.

The cattle market improved Wednesday in number over last week's total, 208 on sale this week and 181 sold last Wednesday. The rises in sales held the market near steady, but an average downward trend was observed.

Hogs receipts dropped 400 head Wednesday from last week's 850, and the prices took a comparative drop, most of the catagories suffering a downward trend.

Calves receipts dropped from 101 head of last week to 75 Wednesday, and all three choices of calves took dips in prices.

The sheep market, which last week was reported too slight for a market, was reported light during Wednesday's sales.

A complete report on Wednesday's transactions follows:

Boy Scout News

Bob Turner was made a new member of Boy Scout Troop 107 at its regular meeting this week in First Methodist church.

The meeting opened with Walt Heine leading the troop in its pledge of allegiance to the flag and Bob Rader recited the scout laws.

During the business session, scouts discussed last weekend's hike to Camp Lazarus and made plans for a test trip this Sunday. The meeting closed with the scoutmaster's benediction.

Joint Ditch Meeting Set

At a joint meeting of the Pickaway and Franklin County commissioners Wednesday in the courthouse, John B. Keller of Ashville was appointed chairman of a joint board to study a drainage problem in Madison township.

The panel will meet April 1 at the northern terminus on the George K. Wright farm to study the drainage problem created by refuse flowing from the Lockbourne Army Air Base in Franklin County across the Wright farm and other properties in Madison township, Pickaway County.

First hearing date was set for April 15. County Engineer Henry T. McCrady will head the surveying group and Fred L. Tipton was selected as clerk during the meetings of the joint board.

Credits Set

Credits and disbursements tallied at $2,438.25 in the final account of the Harley H. Duvall estate which was approved Wednesday in Pickaway County probate court. M. M. Decker was administrator of the estate.

Unemployment Pay Limit Detailed

COLUMBUS, March 11—An individual who quits his job voluntarily because of dissatisfaction with his earnings—reduced as a result of his own conduct—is not eligible for unemployment compensation even though he is "able and available for work" in his usual trade or occupation, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's board of review ruled today.

The case, upon which the ruling was made, involved a machine operator who was paid on a piece-work basis but who was guaranteed a minimum pay rate of 85 cents an hour.

The board found that the man, prior to quitting, had received a piece-work production bonus of 23 to 30 cents an hour above the regular rate.

Several weeks before he quit his job, he failed to report to work regularly. In the last full week of his employment, he worked only 32 hours though he could have worked 45 hours.

* * *

WHEN QUERIED as to why he did not take advantage of the full working week, the operator stated that there was a work shortage at his place of employment, that he was fixing his house and that, in general, he had found it more beneficial to remain at home as he had.

The board found that the man was "able and available for work" in keeping with the Ohio Law, one of the conditions of eligibility for benfits.

But the board also held that he "voluntarily quit work because of dissatisfaction with his earnings, a condition—which he was instrumental in creating." In light of this latter fact, the board denied the man's claim for benefits.

Columbus Home Safe Stolen

COLUMBUS, March 11—Naval Commander Elliott M. Brown of Bexley, a Columbus suburb, was short $3,000 today after a strong-armed thief ransacked the Brown's home.

The theft of 100-pound safe containing bonds and jewelry was discovered by Brown's son, Larry, 8, when he returned home from school Wednesday afternoon. Larry told his story to his mother a short time later when she returned from shopping, and Mrs. Brown notified police.

Investigating officers found the empty 100-pound safe, battered open with two sledge hammers found beside it nearly one half mile away.

Alleged Red Denied Halls

AKRON, March 11 — Langston Hughes, Negro poet who was denied a chance to speak at two places in Akron last night, will deliver his message tonight in the hall of Goodrich Local No. 5, CIO-United Rubber Workers of America.

Hughes was scheduled to speak at the YWCA under sponsorship of the Akron Council of Race Relations but the YW reportedly withdrew its permission charges that the council "had failed to reveal the true character and background" of Hughes.

The meeting then was arranged for the Mount Olive Baptist church, but that also withdrew on the ground that Hughes was a Communist.

Jews Hit By Lack Of Ammunition

Targets Always Actual Foe

JERUSALEM, March 11—Ammunition is quite scarce among the Haganah troops—the men of Palestine Jewry's still quasi-official and highly illegal army. Therefore, they can't afford to waste any of it.

They say that if the United States would lift its arms embargo, most of their troubles would be over.

But never was their point better demonstrated than the other afternoon when a Haganah gunnery officer brought some of his trainees up to get some experience firing machineguns.

Less than 800 yards away, on a hill was one of the strongest Arab positions in the entire area.

"They've been giving us a lot of trouble from that point," a guide said.

• • •

THERE, behind the well-sandbagged barricade, looking out over the barbed wire and the no-man's-land, could be heard the deadly psst-chu of rifle bullets without undue nervousness.

"Ah, here they come," the guide said suddenly, pointing back along the pathway. There several running, crouching figures, some of them obviously carrying burdens, hurrying along.

It was the gunnery officer and his brood-newly-recruited boys who, one day, would man regular machinegun positions in the Haganah line.

But as yet they were downy-cheeked kids who obviously were getting their first taste of life along the combat line.

The gunnery officer grinned. target ranges?" he said.

He dispersed his recruits in the area behind the sandbagged barricade—just in case the Arabs should try tossing in a mortar or two. But apparently they hadn't noticed the sudden influx of troops.

For a time, nothing happened, except that the boys set up one of the two machineguns they had brought along, and then lay in the sand and smoked and talked in guarded tones.

• • •

DUSK WAS settling in when the first burst of firing came. Tracers passed overhead and now and then a bullet thudded thickly into the sand.

The gunner officer grinned and motioned the first squad of recruits toward the machine gun. They gauged the distance to the hill point, set the sights and started feeding the precious ammunition out of the box into the hungry gun.

When the next flashes came and the next tracers streaked past their position, they were ready, and the "uh-uh-uh-uh" of a machinegun's stuttering reply was an old familiar sound.

From all indications, it was an unexpected and unpleasant sound for the Arabs.

The first burst obviously fell several yards short, but across the intervening valley we could hear the startled yells and curses that greeted the Haganah's new counsel in this illegal court.

Then the shooting burst out in full force. From all parts of the hill slope, Arab rifle and automatic weapons fire swept the Haganah line.

As yet, they had not centered on positions, since the trainees were not using tracer bullets and it would take a little while to spot the gun.

By the time they spotted it, the gunnery officer had the other gun set up and another squad of recruits busy learning the ABCs of machinegun operation.

• • •

EVENTUALLY, the machinegun fire had its desired effect. Most of the Arabs took cover and ceased firing.

For the Haganah recruits, the precious ammunition was gone, so they broke down their guns and started back.

"Those boys on the hill will be scared all night long now," said the gunnery officer with a grin. "They'll be sure this means an attack."

"Yeah," replied the disgruntled Haganah soldier who manned the outpost. "They'll probably be so scared they'll attack us in the night to get even for all this business!"

Trolley Problem Stumps Solons

COLUMBUS, March 11—Columbus city council was in a quandary today over a momentous question: should trolley coaches pull to the curb or stop in the street to pick up passengers.

The city traffic commission, Traffic Engineer Harry H. Turner Jr. and Safety Director C. C. Cole, maintain the buses should come to within 24 inches of the curb—both front and rear wheels.

Morgan L. Evans, a vice-president of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., is holding out for 36 inches. He says the loading zones are too short for a curbside stop.

Court Tells Dog Liability

COLUMBUS, March 11—A "beware of the dog" sign on a yard gate does not protect the owner from liability for dogbite.

The state supreme court today threw out the appeal by Mr. and Mrs. William Doddy, of Cincinnati, from a $1 666 judgment in favor of Mrs. Clarissa McIntosh, who was bitten by the Doddy's dog. The judgment previously had been upheld by the first district court of appeals.

Mrs. McIntosh was bitten when she entered the second to two gates to the Doddy's yard in company with a friend, who was a Doddy tenant come to pay the rent. The Doddys contended the two gates and the signs were sufficient warning to protect them from damage suits.

6. The atomic scientists have set themselves off as a class apart, demanding privileges which are not available to Americans of other occupations. Exemption from suspicion and attack is no one's right, certainly not anyone on the public payroll. It is the American way of protecting the country from corruption. It is a better way than the Gestapo or the GPU employed.

Every man in public life must submit to constant scrutiny. Even in private life, such scrutiny is constant. Credit bureaus, Bishop's, Proudfoot's, Dun and Bradstreets exist for such purposes.

The character committees of bar associations exist for that purpose. The atomic scientists had better get off their high horses or we shall have to regard them not only as Great Brains but also as Swollen Heads.

Church Council To Direct Halt To Study

CHICAGO, March 11—The International Council of Religious Education announced today that it will ask member groups in 46 states to discontinue public school religious instruction for 800,000 students during school hours.

The council, with headquarters in Chicago, sponsors released time religious education.

The announcement was made by Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary of the council, which held an emergency session in Chicago.

The meeting was called to map strategy following the U. S. supreme court victory of Mrs. Vashti McCollum of Champaign, Ill., in her fight to outlaw religious instruction in Champaign public schools.

Dr. Ross said the council will not recommend elimination of released time classes on religion which are held during school hours but not on school property. More than 1,200,000 children attend such classes.

Dr. Ross, who termed the supreme court decision a "great blow," said action on this phase awaits clarification of the decision.

More than half the people in the United States have pronounced defects in vision.

Jews Hit By Lack Of Ammunition

Targets Always Actual Foe

JERUSALEM, March 11—Ammunition is quite scarce among the Haganah troops—the men of Palestine Jewry's still quasi-official and highly illegal army. Therefore, they can't afford to waste any of it.

They say that if the United States would lift its arms embargo, most of their troubles would be over.

But never was their point better demonstrated than the other afternoon when a Haganah gunnery officer brought some of his trainees up to get some experience firing machineguns.

Less than 800 yards away, on a hill was one of the strongest Arab positions in the entire area.

"They've been giving us a lot of trouble from that point," a guide said.

• • •

THERE, behind the well-sandbagged barricade, looking out over the barbed wire and the no-man's-land, could be heard the deadly psst-chu of rifle bullets without undue nervousness.

"Ah, here they come," the guide said suddenly, pointing back along the pathway. There several running, crouching figures, some of them obviously carrying burdens, hurrying along.

It was the gunnery officer and his brood-newly-recruited boys who, one day, would man regular machinegun positions in the Haganah line.

But as yet they were downy-cheeked kids who obviously were getting their first taste of life along the combat line.

The gunnery officer grinned. target ranges?" he said.

He dispersed his recruits in the area behind the sandbagged barricade—just in case the Arabs should try tossing in a mortar or two. But apparently they hadn't noticed the sudden influx of troops.

For a time, nothing happened, except that the boys set up one of the two machineguns they had brought along, and then lay in the sand and smoked and talked in guarded tones.

• • •

DUSK WAS settling in when the first burst of firing came. Tracers passed overhead and now and then a bullet thudded thickly into the sand.

The gunner officer grinned and motioned the first squad of recruits toward the machine gun. They gauged the distance to the hill point, set the sights and started feeding the precious ammunition out of the box into the hungry gun.

When the next flashes came and the next tracers streaked past their position, they were ready, and the "uh-uh-uh-uh" of a machinegun's stuttering reply was an old familiar sound.

From all indications, it was an unexpected and unpleasant sound for the Arabs.

The first burst obviously fell several yards short, but across the intervening valley we could hear the startled yells and curses that greeted the Haganah's new counsel in this illegal court.

Then the shooting burst out in full force. From all parts of the hill slope, Arab rifle and automatic weapons fire swept the Haganah line.

As yet, they had not centered on positions, since the trainees were not using tracer bullets and it would take a little while to spot the gun.

By the time they spotted it, the gunnery officer had the other gun set up and another squad of recruits busy learning the ABCs of machinegun operation.

• • •

EVENTUALLY, the machinegun fire had its desired effect. Most of the Arabs took cover and ceased firing.

For the Haganah recruits, the precious ammunition was gone, so they broke down their guns and started back.

"Those boys on the hill will be scared all night long now," said the gunnery officer with a grin. "They'll be sure this means an attack."

"Yeah," replied the disgruntled Haganah soldier who manned the outpost. "They'll probably be so scared they'll attack us in the night to get even for all this business!"

Trolley Problem Stumps Solons

COLUMBUS, March 11—Columbus city council was in a quandary today over a momentous question: should trolley coaches pull to the curb or stop in the street to pick up passengers.

The city traffic commission, Traffic Engineer Harry H. Turner Jr. and Safety Director C. C. Cole, maintain the buses should come to within 24 inches of the curb—both front and rear wheels.

Morgan L. Evans, a vice-president of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., is holding out for 36 inches. He says the loading zones are too short for a curbside stop.

Court Tells Dog Liability

COLUMBUS, March 11—A "beware of the dog" sign on a yard gate does not protect the owner from liability for dogbite.

The state supreme court today threw out the appeal by Mr. and Mrs. William Doddy, of Cincinnati, from a $1,666 judgment in favor of Mrs. Clarissa McIntosh, who was bitten by the Doddy's dog. The judgment previously had been upheld by the first district court of appeals.

Mrs. McIntosh was bitten when she entered the second to two gates to the Doddy's yard in company with a friend, who was a Doddy tenant come to pay the rent. The Doddys contended the two gates and the signs were sufficient warning to protect them from damage suits.

Exemption from suspicion and attack is no one's right, certainly not anyone on the public payroll. It is the American way of protecting the country from corruption. It is a better way than the Gestapo or the GPU employed.

Every man in public life must submit to constant scrutiny. Even in private life, such scrutiny is constant. Credit bureaus, Bishop's, Proudfoot's, Dun and Bradstreets exist for such purposes.

The character committees of bar associations exist for that purpose. The atomic scientists had better get off their high horses or we shall have to regard them not only as Great Brains but also as Swollen Heads.

Undefeated Skeins Snap As Tourneys Continue

By International News Service

One of Ohio's last remaining unbeaten Class A teams, a three-time former state champion and a 1947 state tournament quarter-finalist all were casualties of district elimination play today.

Akron Garfield's 16-game undefeated skein was ruthlessly snapped by Wadsworth last night, 55 to 48, at Akron.

At Euclid Shore, a 39-to-36 victory by Cleveland Heights ended Ashtabula's hopes of appearing in the state tourney for the second straight year. It was Cleveland Height's 14th victory in 18 games. Ashtabula had won 17 and lost three prior to last night's defeat.

Columbus Central nosed out Newark's Wildcats, 36 to 35, in Columbus to halt the bid of the 1936, '38 and '43 state champion. Central's Dave Caldwell tipped the winning basket in the last minute of play.

* * *

THE VICTORY was Central's 24th in 25 games and 14th in a row. It snapped a 15-game Newark winning streak and was the Wildcat's fourth loss in 23 contests.

Even the closeness of that game couldn't hold a candle to the Lima St. Rose-Haviland game in Class B, where St. Rose trailed by three points with seven seconds to go but came on to win, 39 to 38.

Haviland had the ball out of bounds with those seven seconds left but was so effectively smothered it couldn't pass in and lost control of the game. It was St. Rose's 24th triumph in 26 games.

Middletown's defending state titlists and Findlay marched firmly along the undefeated path they have trod all season. Findlay's 22nd straight win was a 53-to-34 drubbing of Fostoria, while Middletown made it 21 in a row this season by drubbing Dayton Fairview, 51 to 28.

Mansfield's two clubs clashed for the first time all season, and Little Madison (18-2) stunned the better-known Tygers (16-6) by trouncing them, 38 to 33.

* * *

COLUMBUS Grandview rang up its 16th straight victory and qualified for a finals contest with Central when it walloped South, 51 to 41. Grandview's Bobcats now have won 20 and lost three.

At Cincinnati, the first district tourney to be completed resulted in a 40-to-32 victory for Walnut Hills (18-6) over Norwood (18-7). Star of the Walnut Hills quintet is Tony Trabert, state tennis singles king for two years running.

In Class B, Glenford, the state's winningest team, recorded its 32nd conquest in a 50-to-24 semi-final trouncing of Chauncey at Athens.

Junction City (24-6), the only team to defeat Glenford all season, won the other semi-final, 39 to 37, from Crooksville. Glenford has defeated Junction City twice.

Otherwise, Marysville (17-5) downed Grove City, 46 to 35, and Worthington (19-5) put the skids under Fredericktown, by a 43-34 count at Westerville; at Kent, North Lima (21-5) defeated Wicklife, 51 to 26, and Ashtabula Harbor (20-11) edged Spencer, 37 to 35.

* * *

AT XENIA and Springfield, respectively, two once-beaten "B" clubs stayed in there pitching. New Vienna (19-1) took a 57-to-56 overtime game from Hollansburg, and Newton (21-1) edged Xenia East, 36 to 34.

Tonight's headline games:

Class A—Canton South (18-1) vs. Austintown Fitch (12-6); Youngstown East (12-4) vs. Girard (11-8); Bucyrus (15-4) vs. St. Marys (12-5); Toledo Central vs. Toledo Devilbiss; Marietta (16-5) vs. Hillsboro (17-4) and Portsmouth (14-5) vs. Greenfield (11-7).

Class B—Strasburg (27-2) vs. Dillonvale (14-7); Savannah (22-5) vs. South Amherst (17-5); Akron Ellet (15-3) vs. Dalton (22-6); North Canton (19-5) vs. Ashtabula Edgewood (18-4); Walbridge (20-3) vs. Jackson (16-8); Troy-Luckey (21-2) vs. Milan (20-4); Kitts Hill (26-4) vs. Buckskin (8-6); Enon (22-1) vs. Covington (13-14).

OSU Eyes Back Door Victory

IOWA CITY, Iowa, March 11—Ohio State, grand slam winner of all major meets for two years, was cast in the unfamiliar role of underdog today as Western Conference splashers assembled for the annual Big Nine meet at Iowa City.

The Bucks' prestige suffered a damaging blow two weeks ago when they suffered a dual meet loss at the hands of Michigan. The Wolverines automatically became the favorites for the conference meet.

Coach Mike Peppe of the Bucks, however, is hopeful that such individual stars as Keith Carter of Purdue and Wally Ris of Iowa will steal enough points from the Wolverines to let the Bucks in the back door.

Ashville Quint Notches 25th Win In Row

The Ashville Pettibones advanced into the semi-finals of the Wellston "Pot of Gold" tournament Wednesday night when they won their scrap against the Wellston AC by a 50-40 final.

Wednesday's win stretched the record of the Pettibones this season to 25 games won without a loss.

High point man for the fray was Ashville's Charles Pettibone, who tallied for 21 markers, while Davis and Stevens hit high for the losers with 11 points apiece.

The Pettibones enter the semi-finals in Wellston at 9 p. m. Thursday against the Ashland, Ky., Rockets.

Almost all major league teams were swinging into competitive action today but the World Champion New York Yankees still grabbed "grapefruit league" honors with their play.

The Bronx Bombers, victorious the day before in an 8-6 game with the Detroit Tigers, got two hits off three St. Louis Cardinal pitchers but managed to defeat the Redbirds, 2-1.

The Yanks scored their first run off Lefty Alpha Brazle without a hit, and then nicked righthander Jim Hearn for another run in the seventh.

The National League Champion Brooklyn Dodgers held their first Spring training game in the seclusion of their Dominican Republic base and clubbed their Montreal Royal "cousins" 8-2.

* * *

IN ALL, 11 big league clubs played nine-inning games, with the Dodgers the only team not facing major league competition.

The Boston Braves clubbed three Cincinnati Red pitchers for 14 runs on 14 hits to dump Johnny Neun's men 14-3. Rookie Shortstop Alvin Dark rapped a bases-full triple in the Braves' six-run second inning.

The Detroit Tigers on their first exhibition game of the year with a 14-5 trouncing of the Philadelphia Phillies. Flair hit a homerun for the Phils in the second inning with one on.

The St. Louis Browns continued to get good pitching following yesterday's 7-0 shutout, but the Brownies finally bowed in the 11th inning 3-2 to the Chicago Cubs. Rookie St. Louis Catcher Tom Jordan tied up the game with a ninth-inning two-run homer, but the Cubs got a "singleton" in the 11th.

The Pittsburgh Pirates made it an even-split for inter-league clashes with a 6-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The veteran outfielder, Max West, making another comeback attempt, sewed up the game for the Bucs with a sixth-inning, three-run four-bagger.

There's New Glamour in the Way it Goes

TAKE the glamour of its tapered gracefulness for granted, if you will. One glance tells you it's tops.

Take an inside peek at its newly fashioned interiors—and see if you're not dazzled by the luxury that greets your eyes.

But wait—just wait—till you learn what makes this banner beauty run off with the year's high honors on the highway. Dollars to drachmas—you'll fairly itch to get in and GO!

For now your right foot commands a Fireball power plant that's as eager as a panther on the prowl—yet is so quieted in purr and pulse you barely sense its telltale throb.

Now you slip through traffic or light out cross-country as relaxed as a baby with his bottle—in a body that's bountifully big, cozily cushioned, and insulated against the usual noises of traveling.

Now you experience the first scientific system ever devised to shield a car's ride against road noise, shake and the vibration build-up that previously took advantage of an automobile's tendency to play sound box.

Now you ride the washboard roads and cobbles as though they were carpet—thanks to coil springs all around—plus extra-low-pressure tires, carried on Buick's own wider, more stable Safety-Ride rims.

And last but best, if a Roadmaster's your choice, you can enjoy the really effortless driving—in a new kind of drive that not only frees you of gear-shifting, but that doesn't even shift itself!

It's Dynaflow Drive*—a drive that's devoid of all halt, lag and hesitation through all speed ranges—because here, for the first time, the power plant itself does what gears used to do.

Fact is, you'll find the new Buick sparkling with more than a score of new advances—in ten brilliant models that span three series and give you your choice of three wheelbases and four power ratings.

So why dally? Here, certainly, is the dilly of the year for smartness and roominess—for the newest in driving ease and riding relaxation—and for all those basic bounties that are forever Buick's.

Place your order with your dealer now—whether or not you have a car to trade—and hasten the day when you'll reach those motoring heights you hanker for.

*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

BUICK alone has all these features

Undefeated Skeins Snap As Tourneys Continue

By International News Service

One of Ohio's last remaining unbeaten Class A teams, a three-time former state champion and a 1947 state tournament quarter-finalist all were casualties of district elimination play today.

Akron Garfield's 16-game undefeated skein was ruthlessly snapped by Wadsworth last night, 55 to 48, at Akron.

At Euclid Shore, a 39-to-36 victory by Cleveland Heights ended Ashtabula's hopes of appearing in the state tourney for the second straight year. It was Cleveland Height's 14th victory in 18 games. Ashtabula had won 17 and lost three prior to last night's defeat.

Columbus Central nosed out Newark's Wildcats, 36 to 35, in Columbus to halt the bid of the 1936, '38 and '43 state champion. Central's Dave Caldwell tipped the winning basket in the last minute of play.

* * *

THE VICTORY was Central's 24th in 25 games and 14th in a row. It snapped a 15-game Newark winning streak and was the Wildcat's fourth loss in 23 contests.

Even the closeness of that game couldn't hold a candle to the Lima St. Rose-Haviland game in Class B, where St. Rose trailed by three points with seven seconds to go but came on to win, 39 to 38.

Haviland had the ball out of bounds with those seven seconds left but was so effectively smothered it couldn't pass in and lost control of the game. It was St. Rose's 24th triumph in 26 games.

Middletown's defending state titlists and Findlay marched firmly along the undefeated path they have trod all season. Findlay's 22nd straight win was a 53-to-34 drubbing of Fostoria, while Middletown made it 21 in a row this season by drubbing Dayton Fairview, 51 to 28.

Mansfield's two clubs clashed for the first time all season, and Little Madison (18-2) stunned the better-known Tygers (16-6) by trouncing them, 38 to 33.

* * *

COLUMBUS Grandview rang up its 16th straight victory and qualified for a finals contest with Central when it walloped South, 51 to 41. Grandview's Bobcats now have won 20 and lost three.

At Cincinnati, the first district tourney to be completed resulted in a 40-to-32 victory for Walnut Hills (18-6) over Norwood (18-7). Star of the Walnut Hills quintet is Tony Trabert, state tennis singles king for two years running.

In Class B, Glenford, the state's winningest team, recorded its 32nd conquest in a 50-to-24 semi-final trouncing of Chauncey at Athens.

Junction City (24-6), the only team to defeat Glenford all season, won the other semi-final, 39 to 37, from Crooksville. Glenford has defeated Junction City twice.

Otherwise, Marysville (17-5) downed Grove City, 46 to 35, and Worthington (19-5) put the skids under Fredericktown, by a 43-34 count at Westerville; at Kent, North Lima (21-5) defeated Wicklife, 51 to 26, and Ashtabula Harbor (20-11) edged Spencer, 37 to 35.

* * *

AT XENIA and Springfield, respectively, two once-beaten "B" clubs stayed in there pitching. New Vienna (19-1) took a 57-to-56 overtime game from Hollansburg, and Newton (21-1) edged Xenia East, 36 to 34.

Tonight's headline games:

Class A—Canton South (18-1) vs. Austintown Fitch (12-6); Youngstown East (12-4) vs. Girard (11-8); Bucyrus (15-4) vs. St. Marys (12-5); Toledo Central vs. Toledo Devilbiss; Marietta (16-5) vs. Hillsboro (17-4) and Portsmouth (14-5) vs. Greenfield (11-7).

Class B—Strasburg (27-2) vs. Dillonvale (14-7); Savannah (22-5) vs. South Amherst (17-5); Akron Ellet (15-3) vs. Dalton (22-6); North Canton (19-5) vs. Ashtabula Edgewood (18-4); Walbridge (20-3) vs. Jackson (16-8); Troy-Luckey (21-2) vs. Milan (20-4); Kitts Hill (26-4) vs. Buckskin (8-6); Enon (22-1) vs. Covington (13-14).

OSU Eyes Back Door Victory

IOWA CITY, Iowa, March 11—Ohio State, grand slam winner of all major meets for two years, was cast in the unfamiliar role of underdog today as Western Conference splashers assembled for the annual Big Nine meet at Iowa City.

The Bucks' prestige suffered a damaging blow two weeks ago when they suffered a dual meet loss at the hands of Michigan. The Wolverines automatically became the favorites for the conference meet.

Coach Mike Peppe of the Bucks, however, is hopeful that such individual stars as Keith Carter of Purdue and Wally Ris of Iowa will steal enough points from the Wolverines to let the Bucks in the back door.

There's New Glamour in the Way it Goes

TAKE the glamour of its tapered gracefulness for granted, if you will. One glance tells you it's tops.

Take an inside peek at its newly fashioned interiors—and see if you're not dazzled by the luxury that greets your eyes.

But wait—just wait—till you learn what makes this banner beauty run off with the year's high honors on the highway. Dollars to drachmas—you'll fairly itch to get in and GO!

For now your right foot commands a Fireball power plant that's as eager as a panther on the prowl—yet is so quieted in purr and pulse you barely sense its telltale throb.

Now you slip through traffic or light out cross-country as relaxed as a baby with his bottle—in a body that's bountifully big, cozily cushioned, and insulated against the usual noises of traveling.

Now you experience the first scientific system ever devised to shield a car's ride against road noise, shake and the vibration build-up that previously took advantage of an automobile's tendency to play sound box.

Now you ride the washboard roads and cobbles as though they were carpet—thanks to coil springs all around—plus extra-low-pressure tires, carried on Buick's own wider, more stable Safety-Ride rims.

And last but best, if a Roadmaster's your choice, you can enjoy the really effortless driving—in a new kind of drive that not only frees you of gear-shifting, but that doesn't even shift itself!

It's Dynaflow Drive*—a drive that's devoid of all halt, lag and hesitation through all speed ranges—because here, for the first time, the power plant itself does what gears used to do.

Fact is, you'll find the new Buick sparkling with more than a score of new advances—in ten brilliant models that span three series and give you your choice of three wheelbases and four power ratings.

So why dally? Here, certainly, is the dilly of the year for smartness and roominess—for the newest in driving ease and riding relaxation—and for all those basic bounties that are forever Buick's.

Place your order with your dealer now—whether or not you have a car to trade—and hasten the day when you'll reach those motoring heights you hanker for.

*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

BUICK alone has all these features

★ DYNAFLOW DRIVE (Optional, Roadmaster Series)
★ TAPER-THRU STYLING
★ VIBRA-SHIELDED RIDE
★ HI-POISED FIREBALL POWER
★ SAFETY-RIDE RIMS
★ QUADRUFLEX COIL SPRINGING
★ FLEX-FIT OIL RINGS
★ ROAD-RITE BALANCE
★ RIGID TORQUE-TUBE
★ SOUND-SORBER TOP LINING (Super and Roadmaster)
★ DUOMATIC SPARK ADVANCE

HITLER PLAN WAS MILD

Holy Land Gets Laugh From 'Red Jew' Charge

By KENNETH L. DIXON

TEL AVIV, March 11—This is not so much of a story as it is an attempt to clear up a misapprehension which might get considerable credence if spread too far without refutation.

During recent weeks, there have appeared in various newspapers around the world several references to what has been termed "Red Zionism"—indicating, apparently, that someone was trying to say there are countless Communists among displaced Jews bound for Palestine.

Just who is responsible for those reports, and what the motivation might be is something this correspondent is not qualified to comment upon.

However, I am qualified to comment on the truth of the reports—and the truth is that they are utterly ridiculous.

* * *

TO BEGIN with, the reports were received with howls of laughter in those parts of Europe where the displaced persons still, unfortunately, are congregated behind barbed wire.

People who knew the stories behind those refugees were highly amused at the idea that they might be Communists.

For several weeks now, I have probed the problem of Communism across Europe, the Mediterranean and Palestine. And it has not been a one-man task.

Several members of the United Jewish Appeal Mission—some of whom are not Zionist and all of whom hate Communism as it is practiced today—also were busy checking every possible source.

In addition, many quite objective newsmen along the route added their two-bits' worth.

No one had detected the slightest sign of any major Communistic movement in the exhodus to Palestine. And that was but the beginning.

In one displaced persons camp after another in France, Germany and Italy, I heard story after story of postwar persecution of Jews in countries now under Soviet domination.

* * *

PEOPLE fleeing Poland, Hungary, Rumania—yes, and even Russia—reported new waves of anti-Semitism which made Hitler's opening moves seem mild by comparison.

What was behind the mass exodus out of the Balkans during recent months? Russian anti-Semitism.

At a mountain border point in the Jewish Haganah underground route from Europe, I saw ill-clad, half-starved Jews who had fled those sectors with nothing more than the scant clothes they wore on their backs.

Why? Anti-Semitism.

At another point, I met a woman who literally had to shoot and bribe her way out of Poland with a brood of Jewish war-orphans. Why? Anti-Semitism.

There may be fools back home who believe that Communism, as practiced, is a political ideology without racial prejudices.

But try preaching that sort of folly to the homeless Jews who have been suffering from renewed waves of anti-Semitism in Russian-dominated countries since the war ended!

Of course, as in any group of humans you can find an occasional individual who will fall for the theory of any idelogy, forgetting the fact.

* * *

ALSO, IF the Western Democracies refuse to enforce the Palestine partition, as ordered by the United Nations, and if Russia then steps in with arms, ammunition, money and manpower—well, remember what happened in Spain.

But, other than for those two possibilities, any talk of a sizeable wave of "Red Zionism" seems more than slightly ridiculous.

Of course, those who are repeating such talk might just possibly have friends who—despite the United Nations decision—are financially interested in preventing the partition of Palestine.

And I don't mean Arabs!

HITLER PLAN WAS MILD

Holy Land Gets Laugh From 'Red Jew' Charge

By KENNETH L. DIXON

TEL AVIV, March 11—This is not so much of a story as it is an attempt to clear up a misapprehension which might get considerable credence if spread too far without refutation.

During recent weeks, there have appeared in various newspapers around the world several references to what has been termed "Red Zionism"—indicating, apparently, that someone was trying to say there are countless Communists among displaced Jews bound for Palestine.

Just who is responsible for those reports, and what the motivation might be is something this correspondent is not qualified to comment upon.

However, I am qualified to comment on the truth of the reports—and the truth is that they are utterly ridiculous.

* * *

TO BEGIN with, the reports were received with howls of laughter in those parts of Europe where the displaced persons still, unfortunately, are congregated behind barbed wire.

People who knew the stories behind those refugees were highly amused at the idea that they might be Communists.

For several weeks now, I have probed the problem of Communism across Europe, the Mediterranean and Palestine. And it has not been a one-man task.

Several members of the United Jewish Appeal Mission—some of whom are not Zionist and all of whom hate Communism as it is practiced today—also were busy checking every possible source.

In addition, many quite objective newsmen along the route added their two-bits' worth.

No one had detected the slightest sign of any major Communistic movement in the exhodus to Palestine. And that was but the beginning.

In one displaced persons camp after another in France, Germany and Italy, I heard story after story of postwar persecution of Jews in countries now under Soviet domination.

* * *

PEOPLE fleeing Poland, Hungary, Rumania—yes, and even Russia—reported new waves of anti-Semitism which made Hitler's opening moves seem mild by comparison.

What was behind the mass exodus out of the Balkans during recent months? Russian anti-Semitism.

At a mountain border point in the Jewish Haganah underground route from Europe, I saw ill-clad, half-starved Jews who had fled those sectors with nothing more than the scant clothes they wore on their backs Why? Anti-Semitism.

At another point, I met a woman who literally had to shoot and bribe her way out of Poland with a brood of Jewish war-orphans. Why? Anti-Semitism.

There may be fools back home who believe that Communism, as practiced, is a political ideology without racial prejudices.

But try preaching that sort of folly to the homeless Jews who have been suffering from renewed waves of anti-Semitism in Russian-dominated countries since the war ended!

Of course, as in any group of humans you can find an occasional individual who will fall for the theory of any idelogy, forgetting the fact.

* * *

ALSO, IF the Western Democracies refuse to enforce the Palestine partition, as ordered by the United Nations, and if Russia then steps in with arms, ammunition, money and manpower—well, remember what happened in Spain.

But, other than for those two possibilities, any talk of a sizeable wave of "Red Zionism" seems more than slightly ridiculous.

Of course, those who are repeating such talk might just possibly have friends who—despite the United Nations decision—are financially interested in preventing the partition of Palestine.

And I don't mean Arabs!

Dorothy Kirsten, glamorous Metropolitan opera prima donna, will take time from her musical chores to play Mutual's radio version of the popular parlor game, "Twenty Questions," on Saturday at 8 p. m.

In addition to Miss Kirsten, the regular panel members, consisting of Fred Vandeventer, Florence Rinard, Herb Polesie and Bobby McGuire, will be on hand to identify subjects described by emcee Bill Slater only as "animal, mineral or vegetable."

Excerpts from Serge Prokofieff's "Lieutenant Kije," and the third and fourth movements from Mozart's Symphony Number 39 in E Flat will highlight the Saturday Mutual broadcast of "Symphonies For Youth" at 1:30 p. m.

Under the direction of Alfred Wallenstein, the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra will also present Rossini's "Passo A Sie" from Act I of William Tell, and Fuleihan's "Excerpts from Three Cypress Serenades."

Petite, pert-voiced Trudy Erwin, former Kay Kyser band vocalist, will be Burl Ives' guest on the WHKC ballad man's Friday broadcast at 8 p. m. Trudy sings the delightful story of a "Pretty Girl Milking a Cow" and Burl offers "Robin He Married a Wife From the West" and "Molly Malone."

Kay Kyser visits the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue during a broadcast of his "Comedy of Errors" over WLW on Saturday night, at 10 p. m. In his desperate effort to beat the March 15 deadline, the Old Professor learns what it is to have untold wealth—money that does not appear on the income tax report.

The annual Girl Scouts birthday party will be aired as a special Mutual network broadcast Saturday at 4:45 p. m. in a program featuring Helen Jepson, Metropolitan Opera star, as soloist.

The 50-voiced Girl Scouts chorus, directed by Grace Olsen, will be presented then.

The 10-year-old juvenile movie star, "Butch" Jenkins, and his mother, Doris Dudley, will be guest contestants on WHKC's parent-child quiz-fest, "Keeping Up With The Kids," Saturday at 9 p. m.

Benay Venuta, famous stage, screen and radio artist, will pose the questions as four parent-child teams vie for prizes and the best score.

Jerry Wald, his clarinet and his orchestra, will be the first name band to mount the guest podium when the sparkling new "Teentimers Club" program debuts as a weekly musical 11:30 a. m. over WHKC. The broadcast will originate from Chattanooga, Tenn.

Chain Letters In Vogue; Postmaster Issues Warning

'48 Versions Offer Luck And Women

All Notes Being Stopped Here

The chain letter fad is in vogue again.

Some of them offer money as did the first chain letter several years ago, but many of the 1948 versions offer anything from good luck to tea towels to women.

Officials of Circleville postoffice reported Thursday that large numbers of chain letters are entering the local mail center—but few of them are clearing.

Postal employes are stopping the letters and are forwarding them on to higher officials.

* * *

A. HULSE HAYS, postmaster, issued a stern warning against the mailing of such letters. He said writers of chain letters face prosecution if their identities are ascertained.

Such letters violate federal postal regulations, Hays reported.

The postmaster said some of the letters sidetracked here do not offer financial gains and do not order that the receiver send money "to the top name on the list."

Some are based strictly on superstition and guarantee good fortune provided the letters are kept going and the chain not broken.

Hays said some of the letters are regular three-cent first class letters, others are being carried in unsealed cent and one-half envelopes. One batch is moving on a regulation penny postal card.

The local office is stopping one type of "chain" which offers a vast supply of "tea towels." At least two others offer "good luck."

* * *

HERE IS ONE of the chain letters being circulated in Circleville and elsewhere:

"TWA, Hangar 306,
"Airline Section

"The 'luck' of London has been sent to you. It was started in London by an army officer. The one who breaks the chain will have bad luck. Please copy this letter and see what happens to you four days after you receive it.

"Send, this copy and four others to people you wish to have luck. Don't send any money and don't keep this copy.

"It must have left you 24 hours after you receive it. A man received $4,000 after receiving this letter and lost it because he broke the chain.

"One woman got $11,500 after receiving it. You will have good luck four days after receiving this. "It is not a joke. Wait and see."

Another strictly on the humorous side, is addressed only to men. It is called the "Man's Paradise Chain Letter."

The text reads:

"This letter started in Reno in the hope of bringing happiness to tired business and professional men.

"Unlike most chain letters, this is one that does not cost any money. Simply send a copy of this letter to five (5) male friends.

* * *

"THEN BUNDLE up your wife and send her to the fellow at the top of the list.

"When your name comes to the top of the list, you will receive 6,718 women.

"Have faith. Do not break the chain. One man broke the chain and got his own wife back."

Humorous or not, these chain letters are not funny to Hays and his crew.

"We intend stopping them all," the postmaster declared. "It is against postal regulations and the law makes no exception."

Neighbors Help Pair As Home Is Destroyed

WILLOUGHBY, March 11—A dull and gloomy future seemed to be in store for William Lash, 28, and his wife, Eileen,22, when their Willoughby home burned down last Feb. 16, but things have changed since then.

Lash, who, like his wife, is a veteran of World War II, was held prisoner by the Japs for 38 months on Luzon and wasn't in very good health as a result of his experiences.

Misfortune struck again when the house which he was renting burned to the ground. But it was really only the beginning of good luck for the couple.

Everyone in the township wanted to help the two get a home of their own. Money came pouring in along with offers of help to build a new home for Lash and his wife and their two youngsters.

A committee met in the township hall to coordinate the various offers of help and map plans for the project.

The money was donated by business organizations, unions and others who were stirred by the plight of the veteran.

Nine-tenths of the United States' supply of platinum must be imported.

Ashville Club Plans Benefit

The Ashville Women's Civic Club will present "Fun for You", a variety show, for the benefit of the Community Betterment Fund at the Ashville high school auditorium Tuesday and Wednesday.

The show includes 10 scenes and features such impersonations as "The Quiz Kids", singing Commercials, "Barn Dance," "Grand Ole Opry," "Dr. I. Q.", "Tom Brenneman's Breakfast in Hollywood" and a Treasury Star Parade.

The show, designed for laughs and variety, is a new idea in amateur production because the local people who comprise the cast not only impersonate radio, stage and screen stars but the audience also has an opportunity to take part. Prizes will be given for audience participation.

The United States has about 20,000,000 dairy cows.
